Military Prepared to Keep Capital Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — With hundreds of military policemen standing ready just across the Potomac, antiwar demonstrators are drumming up support for militant activities they hope will disrupt the national government.

The Defense Department announced early today that as a precaution it transferred "a few hundred personnel of the 519th Military Police Battalion from Ft. Meade, Md., to Ft. Myer, Va."

That puts the troops within two miles of the four main Potomac River bridges over which thousands of federal employees commute from suburban Virginia into the District every working day.

The demonstrators—in their most ambitious campaign in the capital since the Vietnam war began—have made those bridges and other key traffic intersections in the Washington area targets for disruption Monday and Tuesday.

By tying up traffic at those 21 points, the protesters contend, they can bring the federal city to a halt.

But the federal city is ready, officials say.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst called threats to shut down the government "just a lot of hot air." He said 7,300 police and National Guardsmen will be on hand to prevent traffic tieups. The Pentagon added six helicopters to the force, some choppers to ferry high officials to work, others big enough to move cars from the highways.

Rock Concerts

The demonstrators launched a series of rock concerts to boost crowds for the Monday and Tuesday tieups.

Many of the youthful campers streamed into the capital city overnight to join an estimated 1,500 who had camped just west of the Tidal Basin below the Lincoln Memorial.

Friday, 335 antiwar protesters were arrested at the Justice Department where they were building in a sit-down campaign. Th arrests brought to 1,200 the number made by Washington police during a week of demonstrations on Capitol Hill and at various governmental agencies.

Rennie Davis, a Coalition organizer, predicted up to 50,000 persons will be on hand for the sit-ins.

Police estimated far fewer. Briefings held on Capitol Hill for members of Congress included crowd estimates of 5,000 to 10,000.

And Kleindienst promised official Washington the threatened traffic tieups would be "an irritant only."

CBS Called Unfair

FCC Asks Reply To Pentagon Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System, refusing to show congressmen material left out of "The Selling of the Pentagon," has been asked by the Federal Communications Commission to answer complaints the documentary was unfair.

The network Friday was given 20 days to respond.

Even as that deadline was being set, another for CBS was running out: the 10 days given by congressional investigators to provide material collected for but not used in the documentary.

"Instead of providing the material, CBS sent the House Commerce Committee's special investigating subcommittee a new refusal, saying compliance 'would have a chilling effect' on news reporting in all media."

Court Confrontation

A subcommittee attorney said it may take a week to 10 days before the members decide whether to seek a contempt-of-Congress citation against the network, a possibility that could set the stage for a court confrontation.

"The Selling of the Pentagon," first broadcast Feb. 23 and repeated March 23, stated, as the FCC described it, "that the Department of Defense would spend $30 million this year in 'public relations funds' not merely to inform but to convince and persuade the public on vital issues of war and peace."

Pentagon officials said responses by Daniel Z. Henkin, an assistant secretary of defense, to interview questions by CBS newsmen Roger Mudd has been edited and rearranged in ways that misrepresented Henkin's statements.

They charged that a Marine colonel, quoting the prime minister of Laos on the "domino theory" of Asian mutual defense, was made to appear as if the words were his own.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., chairman of the subcommittee, ordered CBS April 8 to turn over all the material it collected in preparing the program. On April 20, after CBS refused, Staggers gave the network 10 days more to reconsider.

Meanwhile, Staggers wrote the FCC March 9 asking what action it would take in response to complaints about the program. In a reply Friday, the FCC said it has no evidence of deliberate distortion and therefore no authority to intervene on the complaints.

Trying to second-guess journalistic judgment, it said, would be "unwise and probably impossible" and would only lead the FCC into "an impenetrable thicket."

But the commission suggested "that CBS has failed to address the question raised as to splicing answers to a variety of questions as a way of creating a new 'answer' to a single question."

Scattered Frost Likely Tonight

Fox Cities — Fair and colder tonight with scattered frost and local freezing, Sunday fair and continued cool. Low tonight near 32, high Sunday near 55. Wind northwest at 6-12 m.p.h. tonight, light and variable on Sunday. Precipitation probability 5 percent tonight and Sunday.

Appleton — Observations at 8 a.m. for the preceding 24 hours: high 58, low 44. Barometer 30.08 and steady. Wind west-northwest at 6-12 m.p.h. Dew point 38. Humidity 72 percent. Skies cloudy. Precipitation probability .07 inches.

Harold Wilson Visits Johnsons

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson and his wife are entertaining old friends at their ranch this weekend.

Harold Wilson, the former British prime minister, and his wife arrived Friday for a five-day Texas visit, much of it at the LBJ Ranch west of Austin.

Johnson, Wilson and 16 University of Texas graduate students will have an informal session Sunday and Wilson will address the Texas Legislature on Monday.

GI Deaths First In A Shau Valley

SAIGON (AP) — Despite heavy bombing attacks, North Vietnamese troops ambushed a patrol of American paratroopers to inflict the first U.S. deaths reported in the allied operation in the A Shau Valley.

The U.S. Command said five Americans were killed and 10 were wounded Friday while reconnoitering the eastern edge of the 30-mile long valley, after B52 bombers dropped nearly 100 tons of explosives on suspected North Vietnamese mountain hideouts.

The men were part of a reconnaissance unit of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division. Troops of the division have been moving in and out of the valley, about 375 miles north of Saigon, 14. The U.S. battlefield deaths were the first reported in the operation, which has produced insignificant results thus far.

Helicopter gunships from the 101st helped break up the North Vietnamese attack. Enemy losses were reported as unknown.

Twenty-five miles to the north of the A Shau Valley, copter gunships smashed a North Vietnamese base camp containing numerous bunkers. Headquarters said 26 North Vietnamese troops were killed and 29 bunkers and several heavy weapons were destroyed.

New 'Kidnap Plot' Indictment Includes Letters on Kissinger

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A new indictment against eight antiwar activists carries copies of letters that the government says show plans to kidnap presidential adviser Henry Kissinger and make him the defendant in a mock war crimes trial.

The trial would be filmed for broadcast on television, the handwritten but unsigned letters say. Photostated portions are attached to the indictment.

The new 10-count indictment was returned Friday by a federal grand jury investigating an alleged bomb-kidnap plot. It superseded the original indictment returned Jan. 12, expanded on the charges and added two defendants to the original six, who included the Rev. Philip Berrigan.

It retained two basic charges: that an antiwar group led by three priests plotted to kidnap Kissinger and that the group schemed to blow up at least five heating tunnels under federal buildings in Washington, D.C., to dramatize its opposition to the war.

New Defendants

The newly named defendants are Mary Cain Scoblick, 32, a former nun who is married to Anthony Scoblick, one of the original defendants; and John Theodore Glick, 21, of Lancaster, Pa., son of the president of Keuka N.Y., College.

Glick is now serving an 18-month prison sentence for ransacking offices of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, U.S. attorney and Selective Service in Rochester, N.Y., last September.

Three of seven coconspirators named in the original indictment were stricken from the list and three counts and 13 overt acts were added.

The expanded charges dealt with alleged plans for a number of raids on Selective Service boards in the Northeast.

The new indictment, backed up with photostated portions of letters, alleges that letters exchanged between Berrigan, 47, and Sister Elizabeth McAllister, 31, and Eghal Ahmad, 40, unveiled plans to kidnap Kissinger and hold him for a week.

Release Film

During this time "big wigs of the liberal ilk would be brought to him—also kidnaped if necessary, which for the most part it would be—and hold a trial or grand jury affair out of which an indictment would be brought," the alleged letter from Sister Elizabeth and Eghal said. "... the liberals would also be released as would a film of the whole proceedings in which, hopefully, he (Kissinger) would be far more honest than he is on his own territory."

"The impact of such a thing could be phenomenal. Reasons for wanting to do it: it will ultimately be done by someone here and end in fiasco or violence and killing..."

The indictment charges that Berrigan hatched the plot while in federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa.

Others reindicted besides Scoblick and Berrigan are Sister Elizabeth, on leave as a faculty member at Marymount College, Tarrytown, N.Y.; Eghal, a Pakistani research fellow studying revolutionary warfare at the University of Chicago; and two Baltimore priests, the Revs. Joseph Wenderoth, 35, and Neil McLaughlin, 30.

The three persons listed as coconspirators in the original indictment but not mentioned in the superseding indictment were the Rev. Daniel Berrigan, 49, a brother of Philip and also serving a term for destroying draft records; Thomas Davidson, 25, Salina, Kan.; and Paul Mayer, 32, a married former priest from New York.

Remaining on the list of undicted coconspirators were two Washington nuns, Sister Beverly Bell, 43, and Marjorie Shuman, 47; Willjvidon, 43, a professor at Haverford College near Philadelphia; and Sister Jogues Egan, 52, a New York City nun.

In going beyond the original indictment, the superseding papers presented to Judge R. Dixon Herman Friday also brought up some new topics in the case, including allegations that:

—Philip Berrigan wrote Sister Elizabeth a letter last June 29 concerning vandalism against Selective Service headquarters in Rochester, N.Y., and elsewhere, and that "the subterranean project in the district should have priority for winter of 70-71."

Direct Vandalism

Two days later, Sister Elizabeth wrote Berrigan that she had been to Rochester and had conferred with people "in an effort to assist and direct them in the vandalism of Selective Service board offices."

—Davidson, the Scoblicks, Wenderoth, and Glick met at Wilmington, Del., last Aug. 7 presumably to discuss the "planning and recruiting of the necessary personnel to enter Selective Service board offices in Philadelphia; Wilmington, Dover and Georgetown, Del.; and Rochester as well as elsewhere in the United States... to mutilate, remove and destroy government property."

Effort to Save Railroads Under Way

Half of Passenger Trains Idled as Amtrak Takes Over

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Amtrak rail passenger system went into operation today, killing nearly half the nation's railroad passenger trains in a government-backed effort to restore the others to economic health.

Beginning at 12:01 a.m., the National Railroad Passenger Corporation assumed responsibility for operating 182 passenger trains and allowed the 20 participating railroads to drop 178 others.

The corporation was established by Congress last year to establish and maintain a backbone national rail passenger system connecting the nation's principal cities. This came in the face of mounting railroad requests to get rid of passenger trains being operated at losses running $200 million a year.

New Insignia

Sporting a new red-white-and-blue insignia, Amtrak today began assembling the newest and best railroad passenger cars from its 20 member railroads for its 182 trains serving 314 cities and towns on 20,600 miles of track on 21 basic routes.

The ceremonial inaugural was set for 9:30 a.m. at Washington's Union Station with departure of the government-backed Metroliner for a three-hour run to New York. The passenger list included congressmen, government officials and invited dignitaries.

"We ask your patience and forbearance," Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe said in prepared remarks, "while, with all practicable speed, Amtrak restores, rebuilds and revitalizes our rail passenger system."

Other Ceremonies

Other ceremonies were planned in Boston, Houston, Los Angeles and Chicago.

Across the nation, there were some fond goodbyes, some business-as-usual as the changeover became effective.

Five passenger trains left Seattle for the last time with no fanfare. "I just hate to talk about it," said M. A. Reiersgard, a 28-year railroad veteran and conductor of the Mainstreeter.

In Boston, the Federal Express pulled out for its last ride, carrying 45 passengers in coaches, 12 in sleepers and 35 postal workers in two mail cars. Ten denim-clad members of the Mystic Valley Railroad Society carried signs reading: "Federal Laid to Rest April 30, 1971."

Eddie Herrmann was left holding the last ticket on the Seaboard Coastline's Old 94 run after a spokesman said the final run was canceled.

Appeals Failed

Eleventh-hour efforts to delay start of the system and discontinuance of trains Amtrak rejected as potential big losers failed in Congress and in the courts.

In the Senate Friday, the Commerce Committee called off a meeting to consider a bill by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana to postpone the start seven months.

Sunday Post-Crescent Features

The first elected black mayor of a major American city, Richard Hatcher, of Gary, Ind., is seeking another term running against—according to Margaret Gentry, of the Associated Press—another black and three whites.

When Brownie Troop No. 67 took a train ride from Oshkosh to Appleton, Post-Crescent photographer Robert V. Easton went along to record the first train trip for some, probably the last for all.

Fish and the art of fishing will soon be luring men and women from household duties, and Outdoor Editor Jim Harp offers some advance knowledge of types and places while correspondent Mike Yark reveals a favorite fishing haunt.

Sunday Editor James Auer wears his art critic hat to report from Madison on "In Search of Antiquity," important exhibition of Ming and Ch'ing dynasty Chinese paintings at the Elvehjem Art Center.

Writer Don Castonia and photographer Ralph Acker combine talents to show and tell what happens before you put your coin in the slot of that sandwich or beverage machine.

"Laugh-In" star Lily Tomlin and her LP album, consisting in the main of her anachronistic impersonation of a telephone operator, attracts the attention of David F. Wagner, who suggests there may be some truth in the characterization of Ernestine.

Don "Big Daddy" Garlits, professional drag racer, finds by testing that even for a pro, drinking and driving don't mix.

Dressed in Mourning, Don West of Fontana, Wis., bids farewell to Milwaukee Road train No. 11 which no longer makes the run from Chicago to Madison.

Presbyterian General Assembly To Air Church, Social Issues

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — Major decisions regarding both the substance and the style of work done by the United Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. will be made at the denomination's 183rd General Assembly meeting here in May.

The General Assembly is the highest legislative body of the

Single, Young Adult Retreat Scheduled

"Putting Your Head Together" is the name of the special weekend for young adults at Monte Alverno Retreat Center. It will begin Friday and run through May 9. It is open to all single post high school age people of any denomination.

The weekend will consist of lectures, dynamics and discussions. There will be five topics: Where it is: the strengths and weaknesses of the now generation; Where it might be: possible values regarding sex, drugs, drink, status, personal relationships; Where structured religion is: a critical look; Where I'm at: evaluating my strengths and weaknesses; Where the future of Christianity lies: stability or revolution.

The Rev. Kurt Gessner, director of Monte Alverno, explained the purpose of the weekend.

"Young people are continually searching for new experiences and values which mean something to them. They resent it when the older generation tries to tell them how and what their lives should be.

"On this weekend, we are not attempting to give them answers. Rather, we want to create an atmosphere for them to put their own values and experiences together. We will be there to help them if they ask. But we are not going to force our values on to them."

Interested young people can receive more information and register for the event by calling the center at 733-8526.

Deadline Set on Dumping Iron Ore Mining Wastes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency has given a Minnesota company six months to stop pouring 66,000 tons of iron-ore mining wastes daily into Lake Superior or choose between a government waste disposal plan and court action.

William D. Ruckelshaus, EPA administrator, announced the action today against Reserve Mining Co. of Silver Bay, Minn., owned jointly by Republic and Armco steel companies.

"We are taking this action in view of the company's continuing delays in coming up with an effective, acceptable and timely plan for pollution abatement," Ruckelshaus said.

Edward M. Furness, Reserve Mining president, called the EPA order "an unfortunate step backward." He said there's no evidence the company's dumping has affected the lake's water quality.

"Reserve would very much like to resolve this controversy and if realistic criteria are presented every consideration will be given to them," Furness said.

Lake Superior, a vast expanse of fresh water, is the least polluted of the five Great Lakes. Fourteen other taconite plants along the lake dispose of their iron tailings on land, but Reserve dumps tailings in the lake.

The 180-day notice gives Reserve an opportunity to devise its own plans for compliance with water quality statutes. If the firm fails to come up with an acceptable plan, Ruckelshaus said, the matter may be referred to the Justice Department for court action.

Ruckelshaus also said he had engaged an engineering firm to study possible methods of disposing of the taconite tailings.

"If the company does not respond affirmatively," Ruckelshaus said, "the government, in order to protect the waters of Lake Superior, will have to take the unusual step of formulating a waste plan, either the company will adopt the plan, or something equally effective, or we shall be obliged to take the legal remedied provided by applicable statutes."

Miss Bacon Testifies on Bombing

SEATTLE (AP) — Leslie Bacon, the 19-year-old peace worker arrested in connection with the March 1 bombing of the U.S. Capitol, resumes testimony before a federal grand jury today. Her attorneys said earlier questions had no connection with the bombing.

She answered 45 to 60 questions in a 2½-hour session Friday afternoon and "if there is any connection between the bombing of the Capitol and this proceeding, I've been unable to perceive it," said Jeffrey Steinborn of Seattle, one of her attorneys.

On each question put to her by the grand jury Miss Bacon came out of the courtroom to confer with Steinborn and Michael Fayad, her Washington, D.C., attorney.

She would repeat the question, they said, tell them her answer, be advised and return to the grand jury to give her reply.

"As far as I'm concerned," Steinborn said, "She gave a straight answer" to each question.

Fayad said they couldn't discuss the questions until they checked possible legal technicalities.

The government promised Miss Bacon would be released from the current arrest warrant, naming her as a material witness, when the questions were finished, her attorneys said.

But another arrest warrant could be issued resulting from answers to the grand jury, Fayad said. Should that happen, the government promised that the round of legal proceedings through which she was brought to Seattle Thursday after being arrested Wednesday in Washington, D.C., would start anew, he said. The warrant and $100,000 bond were upheld by two federal courts in the District of Columbia.

Now an insurance agent, he said last month that he killed the trigger man in the agent's slaying, but the CIA refused to testify and the charges were dropped.

Admitted Slayer Of Vietnamese Runs for Office

BLOOMFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Robert Marasco, the former Green Beret captain who says the Central Intelligence Agency ordered him to kill a Vietnamese triple agent two years ago, is seeking public office.

"Some have suggested that I seek national office such as congressman, but all of our problems state here on the local level," Marasco said after taking out a petition Thursday for the June 8 primary for councilman here.

F111 Grounded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has grounded all its F111 swing-wing fighter-bombers for the fifth time in three years.

The action was taken Friday after an investigation of the 18th crash of an F111 showed a flaw in the pilot-escape system. Two crewmen were killed in the April 23 crash near Edwards Air Force Base in California.

Air Force officials said the bail-out capsule separated properly from the plane, but a metal door on the recovery parachute compartment failed to blow open. The reason for the bailout is undetermined.

The grounding was described as temporary pending completion of tests, possibly by Monday, to determine why the explosive system that knocks off the chute door failed to operate.

The F111, originally the TFX, has been plagued for years by production and operational problems and discontent in Congress over cost overruns.

The Air Force has accepted 257 of the planes from General Dynamics, the manufacturer, at a cost of about $9 million each, compared with original estimates of $2.8 million. The original plan to purchase 2,411 of the planes has been cut back to 552.

In all, the F111 has been involved in 22 major accidents since January 1967, with loss of 17 planes and nine crewmen.

Nixon Asks Advice From Youth—Gets It

It seems likely that President Nixon has one more conference committee report to ignore — that of the White House Conference on Youth which met for four days in April in Colorado to make it clear to the President — at his invitation — what young people in this country are thinking.

This was no group of hippies, no isolated bunch of campus left-wing radicals, no herd of drop-outs and cop-outs. The delegates to the conference were chosen very carefully as representatives of all of American youth. They were played up publicly as such, so much so that the far left complained in advance that it was a set-up. If it were, it bounced.

The delegates were not all from colleges or universities. They represented all parts of the country, a wide variety of family backgrounds and ideologies, different races, religions and ways of living. At first glance even Vice President Spiro Agnew would have been satisfied. But now it is going to be more difficult than ever for him to claim that protesters and demonstrators are only a small percentage of the people in the nation or of the students on campuses, although he is still trying regarding the massive anti-war demonstrations recently in Washington.

The conference rejected an administration-sponsored resolution approving of the Nixon formula for getting out of Vietnam. Instead it approved an immediate end to the bombing and pulling out every single American military man by December 31, 1971. The conference recommended legalizing marijuana and demanded that J. Edgar Hoover be retired. It asked that at 18 youth not only be permitted to vote but have all the rights of adulthood, including the right to marry and to purchase liquor. It suggested that this could come about within the context of the nation and its government — "the unfulfilled potential of this nation," rather than through violent revolution. It sought more care of individual rights especially of minorities. And the more than four hundred adults who were also carefully chosen to take part agreed in almost every majority decision except for reservations concerning complete sexual freedom.

President Nixon may ignore the report if he wishes — he has that of at least three other presidentially appointed groups — but unless he is completely isolated by his advisors he must if only in a political sense take note of it. The 18-year-olds will be able to vote for President in 1972. And it is clear from the report that disillusion with the establishment, hatred of the war, concern over the inequalities of the poor and the minorities is far-reaching among Americans under 21.

Speedier Justice—Law Day Goal

Justice Horace W. Wilkie of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, speaking in Appleton this week on Law Day, 1971, declared that "right now our most urgent need in the struggle for justice is to improve on our system of court administration." The purpose of such an improvement is to relieve crowded court calendars and speed up the trial of both criminal and civil cases.

William Gladstone, the famous British Prime minister, put it simply: "Justice delayed is justice denied."

The chief justices of both the United States and Wisconsin Supreme Court have been addressing themselves to this subject for some time. And in Wisconsin at least their message is getting through.

Governor Lucey has recently appointed a 35-member task force to make a complete study of Wisconsin's judicial system. The task force will take a searching look at the need for new courts in the state at the county and circuit level, and will also evaluate Chief Justice Harold Hallows' idea of the need for an appellate court which could relieve the state's highest court of some of its case load.

At the same time a similar study will be made here in Outagamie County upon order of the county board. That study will consider the possible need for another county court locally, or possibly another circuit court, or both.

Several years ago when the press and bar were struggling to reach an accommodation on the matter of news coverage of criminal trials, there was great emphasis on the constitutional right under the Sixth Amendment for the accused to receive a trial "by an impartial jury," but there was far less emphasis on another right also guaranteed by the Sixth Amendment, the right "to a speedy and public trial."

On this observation of Law Day we are happy to see new emphasis being placed on the latter right.

Let's Get Together, Boys

Sometimes it seems as if no two agencies of the United States government ever bother to inform each other what is going on.

Secretary of Commerce Stans went off to visit Greece. Reportedly he praised the Greek government for the "security" it offered to United States businessmen and firms located there. Since his statements, a spokesman for the Department of State has explained that Secretary Stans didn't really mean to praise the military junta which seized control of Greece two years ago and which has shown no sign whatever of providing the free elections it promised or the release of untold numbers of political prisoners.

Maybe our providing the weapons of war to the Greek colonels is necessary for them to maintain their role in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, although fairly good arguments can be made for a more thorough review of the future aims and purposes of that organization since things aren't the same in Europe since it was founded. But at the very least there is no reason for a member of the Cabinet to wax enthusiastic about the "security" offered by a dictatorial regime. Everyone knows such security exists — just as long as the government is the one agency with the muscle to provide it.

Looking Backward

Konemic Lodge 21 Years Old

100 years ago
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for May 6, 1871.

"Old Konemic Lodge No. 47" proposes to commemorate its 21st anniversary on the 12th of May, 1871, by a grand invitation ball and re-union at Bertschy's Hall, and a banquet at the LeVake House.

It probably will be the finest party of the season.

According to our recollection, this Lodge was instituted by the Hon. Timothy O. Howe, of Green Bay, then District Deputy of this sparsely settled region.

25 YEARS AGO
Saturday, April 27, 1946.

Charter members of the new Cub Scout Pack 27 of Kaukauna included James Weyenberg, John Schultz, Robert Gertz, Richard Jaeger, Mark Reichel, Don Reichel, Patrick Kavanaugh, Barry Rohan, John Bachhuber, Daniel Sachs, John Robedeaux, Leonard Doering, Sylvester Vanevenhoven, John Landreman, Kenneth Stueber, John Berens, Earl Jacoby, Tom Nole, James Schlude and Tom Mereness.

Den chiefs were Boy Scouts John Hanson, William McGinnis and Glenn Lennert. Norbert F. Nole was named cubmaster of the pack with Howard Schlude his assistant. P. H. Jacoby was chairman of the pack and committeemen were Louis Schultz, Vincent Zacharias and Dr. A. F. Bachhuber.

Den mothers were Mrs. Bernard Schlude and Mrs. Sylvester Vanevenhoven.

10 YEARS AGO
Saturday, April 29, 1961.

John Boon, Menasha, became commander of the Fox Cities U.S. Power Squadron at special ceremonies. Robert Schlingle, Menasha, took over duties as lieutenant commander, and Herman Dupont, Winneconne, the office of treasurer.

The new Lawrence College Mortar Board chapter included students Enid Skripka, Milwaukee; Barbara Stroud, St. Louis; Anne Pelizzoni, Tulsa, Okla.; Janet Ansoorge, Gillett, Wis.; Mary Hamilton, Milwaukee; Sarah Meyer, Oshkosh, and Marcia Rivenburg, Geneseo, Ill.

Mrs. Louis Vanevenhoven was elected president of Kaukauna Ladies Elks. Other officers were Mrs. Marcus Nigal, vice president; Mrs. Robert Goetzman, secretary, and Mrs. Cleon Egan, treasurer.

MOSCOW-TOKYO TRADE EXPANDING

In 12 years, it soars from $9 Million to $909 Million with prospects for still bigger commercial exchange

Background Map

Japanese-Soviet Trade Is Nearing $1 Billion Mark

BY TORAO TOMINAGA

TOKYO (AP) — When Japan signed her first postwar trade pact with the Soviet Union in 1957, commerce between the two nations for that year totaled $9 million. Twelve years later, it had soared to $909 million.

The rapid growth of economic exchange prompted M. V. Gubanov, chief of the Soviet trade delegation in Tokyo, to predict that Russian-Japanese trade would reach $1 billion a year "in the near future."

The prediction was made as the Russians began overtures to Tokyo to participate in Soviet projects to develop the vast untapped mineral, timber and oil resources of sparsely populated Siberia. Moscow proposed that Japan supply the machinery and other equipment and technical knowledge, while the Soviet Union would pay with products developed by the joint project.

Red China Irate

Communist China accused the Russians of "throwing the door wide open for Japanese monopoly capital to plunder the natural resources of Siberia and the Soviet Far East."

The U.S. Jesuit publication America has suggested that the Russians might be seeking Japanese help in developing Siberia in order to keep the Chinese out.

The magazine said the proposed agreement "makes sense for Japan because of the growing need for new sources of raw materials to feed the capacious maw of a constantly expanding industry."

Geographically, Siberia is within easy reach of Japan, with only the Sea of Japan separating them.

But despite the apparent advantages of an economic union to both Japan and the Soviet Union, negotiations on most of the Soviet offers have bogged down.

A Japanese official who has been in close touch with the negotiations said "the Soviets don't think in terms of multi-lateral trade. They think in terms of bilateral trade with the volume of transactions each way balancing out. But Japan has much more to buy from the Soviet Union than vice versa at the present time."

Another Japanese official said a major barrier is the Soviet demand for long term credits, since some of the projects involve many millions of dollars.

In other areas, however, the two nations have reached a number of major agreements. They include a $300 million joint project to build a large commercial port at Wlangel Bay by 1973.

Two Japanese firms, Mitsui and Co. and Toyo Engineering Corp. have an agreement with the Soviet Union to export to the Russians four chemical plants valued at $110 million. Japan's major exports to the Russians have been machinery, industrial equipment, steel and non-ferrous metals, steel cables, electric equipment and installations, synthetic fiber and chemicals.

Soviet exports to Japan consist mainly of timber, crude oil, manganese and chromium ore, precious metals and other nonferrous metals.

Japan's trade with Russia peaked at $909 million in 1969, but this represented only a small fraction of Tokyo's overall foreign trade which totaled $31 billion that year. Commerce with the United States, Japan's biggest trading partner, totaled more than $9 billion in 1969.

What Has Ping Pong Done To the Game of Dominoes?

BY WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

SAN DIEGO — The student asked: How do you get away with saying that the left student movement has collapsed, in the light of the demonstrations in Washington and San Francisco last weekend? The speaker answered: 1) because the anti-war movement is no longer the property of students and college intellectuals; and 2) it is no longer, even among young people, the property of the left. True, there are still a great many students who side with Nixon. But a great many others, heretofore of reserved opinions, and even some of hawkish opinion, have now come around to believing that we should pull out right away.

If you saw a crowd of 300,000 war protesters two or three years ago, you could safely conclude that 90 per cent of them were Mark Rudds, Dwight MacDonaldis, or Benjamin Spocks; today, they would include student athletes, Vietnam veterans, and local businessmen.

He might have added a third point. It is that the extraordinary development involving China is a crucial psychological blow to those who believe that tenacity in Vietnam is indispensable to the stabilization of Asia.

Ask The Dominoes

The position of Lyndon Johnson and Richard Nixon (and of course of their Secretaries of State and Joint Chiefs) has been the domino theory. If South Vietnam were communized by force, the resistance in Cambodia, Laos and Malaysia would cease. Surrounded, Thailand would change governments, and vote in one whose foreign policy was the instrument of China.

The pressures on Indonesia's hundred million would be insupportable. Next, of course, the Philippines, who could not easily breathe in that iron lung, as a Western oriented enclave. South Korea would logically be next, once again through the satellization of its policies. Then time for the big one, Japan. If the United States made it plain that it would not live up to its commitments under SEATO, then Japan's choice would be to cooperate with the nearby great power, or go it alone. Do you really believe all of that domino theory business, someone asked President Nixon at the Governors' Conference a year ago? The President snapped back: Ask the dominoes. Indeed.

But now the famous Ping Pong development. It has weakened an indispensable plank in all the scaffolding. The reason why Mr. Nixon is exchanging pleasantries with Red China is, although not spoken, quite clear: China is different from the China which was annealed into its present condition through two decades of aggression, torture, convulsion, and xenophobia: the China which was the main threat to the dominoes.

It isn't clear whether he intended exactly to call at-

Report Shows Trend In Property Taxes Related to Income

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — On any street corner of a representative city of Wisconsin, the politician who wants to hear can get a painful earful of complaint from the indignant laity about the inexorably rising burden of property taxation.

In the smaller communities and the typical rural towns, the awareness of the property tax equivalent in the cost of living for the home-owner, the businessman, and the tenant is at least as keen and eagerly expressed. Often, indeed, in a rural environment there is a better understanding of the cause of the problem, as in the general understanding of rural residents of "state school aid" primarily as a tool for stabilizing the property tax cost rather than a vehicle for educational service improvement as some of the educators mistakenly believe.

In Madison, the Democrats after the flush of their triumphs last November are deeply concerned in their private talks about their inability thus far to contrive a property tax amelioration that reflects with real impact the explicit declarations of some of the campaigners last year. Surely the state budget in this regard does not conform to the high expectations of some of the discontented property taxpayers.

Perhaps for that reason the Department of Revenue, now under control of the Democratic executive office, has compiled a provocative table that shows the trend in property tax burdens during the last decade in relation to the growth of gross personal income of the inhabitants of the state during that period.

The correlation is fair, as far as it is applicable.

The gross volume of property tax dollars, standing alone, does not convey a problem. It would be unrealistic to assume that the property tax trend would not be affected by the force of inflation, of high employment and production during the 1960s, of rising standards of living, and the innumerable factors that have contributed to the explosion of the economy as a whole.

The table shows that property tax dollars yielded have increased enormously, even as all other indices of economic activity.

What the authors of the table intend to show, appropriately enough, is that the property tax for the state community as a ratio of total personal income or buying power has not extravagantly swelled during the decade.

In 1961, the property tax collected as a percentage of available personal income was 5.4 per cent. It hovered thereabouts for half a dozen years, reaching a low point in mid-decade after the impact of the first state sales tax credits to localities for local property tax reduction was recorded.

Lately, the trend has been slightly upward. Last year, according to a best estimate, it reached 6 per cent of personal income. This year, it will be slightly higher. Next year, it will rise slightly again. But even at 6.2 per cent it won't be severely out of line with what was accepted with reasonable grace a decade earlier.

Difficulty of Test

The table is illuminating. The study is a constructive contribution to the indignantly disputed issue of property tax burdens.

The difficulty is that the property tax is not applied to the total personal income of the amorphous body of 4.5 million Wisconsin inhabitants. Nor is it applied according to income, but rather according to happenstance.

The pressure upon the elderly living on fixed retirement income, upon those of modest earning capacity, upon many of the young marrieds is severe and worsening. The prospects of the aging who had assumed they could continue to support their liability out of savings or retirement benefits are dismaying.

It is no doubt true that appetite for luxury spending among many persons during the boom era has reduced willingness to accept property taxation as a high priority budget item as did their parents. Yet, it is also true that tax inflation has afflicted thousands of the elderly at a time of declining earnings, or eroded savings, or both.

surrogate war in Southeast Asia? Many Americans will suddenly wonder. If Mr. Nixon and Chou En-lai are prepared to settle their differences at a negotiating table, why not let the Southeast Asian thing run its course? We are beholden, in a way, to the South Vietnamese people, yes; but we are not beholden to them except in a grander context which presupposes that if we let them down, little by little a whole tier of nations will become instruments of an enemy bent on the destruction of the United States.

I do not, myself, doubt that Mr. Nixon is playing chess with China. But he should be reminded that there are lots and lots of spectators who will not only be surprised by some of his moves, but dismayed. And if and when he is in a position to cry check mate!, he may look around him and find that there is nobody left there to applaud.

Use Revenues

Room Tax Suggested To Promote Tourism

WISCONSIN DELLS, Wis. (AP) — Motel and resort owners proposed Tuesday that Wisconsin levy a room tax with which to help cities build tourist facilities and promote recreation facilities.

Delegates to the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Innkeepers Association said the state's $500,000 annual contribution to tourism promotion could be increased to $1.5 million under their plan.

Steve Marcus, president of a corporation which operates a plush Milwaukee hotel, said there doesn't seem to be a likely alternative because of Gov. Patrick J. Lucey's efforts to keep state budget spending to a minimum.

The tourist industry, Marcus said, lacks the financial resources to expand recreational advertising without state help.

Budget Bind
"None of us is big enough to do an effective job of getting new business for the state. Gov. Lucey is in a budget bind and not inclined to increase spending for tourist promotion," Marcus said.

"The solution," Marcus continued, would be a 4 per cent tax on room bills.

The state would return 75 per cent of the special tax revenue to municipalities to help build convention centers and other tourist lures.

The 1969 legislature adopted a measure which allows cities to levy a room tax and spend the money as they please.

Owners of motels and hotels in cities which have adopted the tax complain the levy raises their prices while competitors outside the city can avoid it.

Kenneth Meyer, manager of a Madison motel, said his city's 6 per cent room tax not only unbalances the competition, but that the city doesn't spend the income on tourist promotion.

The plan put forward by Marcus would urge the legislature to abolish the municipal levy privilege, replace it with a statewide tax, and make it mandatory that municipalities use the revenue to promote tourism.

The proposal was turned over to an association committee.

If approved by delegates, Marcus said, motel operators would seek Lucey's endorsement of it before it would be submitted to the legislature.

Debbie A. Ryckmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ryckmann, 331A E. Irving Ave., ran from in front of a parked car into the path of a car driven by Robert A. Selk, 27, 1904 Grove St., Oshkosh.

Selk said because of the parked car he did not see the little girl. Selk's car struck her right leg causing her to fall to the pavement.

A hospital official said she suffered a skull fracture and scrapes. The accident happened about 5 p.m. on E. Irving Avenue.

Kimberly Elementary Schools Get Woodland Kit From K-C Mill

KIMBERLY — Five kits entitled "Our Wonderful Woodlands" have been presented to the Kimberly elementary schools for use in instructional material centers by Kimberly-Clark Corp.

The kits contain a filmstrip, cassette tape, class discussion pamphlet, script for the filmstrip, booklets on forests and student books. Lessons taught through use of the materials include conservation of forests, proper forest management and recreational use of privately owned forest areas.

Kimberly Mill Personnel Manager William Koolie made the presentation to Mrs. Pierce Giffey, elementary school librarian, who will be responsible for placing one of the kits in each of the public elementary schools in the district.

Your Problems

Mother's Calls Annoy Boss

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am having trouble with my mother and I need your help. Please don't suggest that I have a talk with a school counselor. I am 55 years old. My mother is 86.

I have a good job in a department store. I leave for work at 8:40 a.m. and I'm home at 6:10 p.m. A kind neighbor stays with Mother while I'm away. The problem is that Mother telephones me several times during the day and my supervisor finds these calls very annoying. Yesterday the fourth call I had the feeling I might lose my job.

Landers
How can I make an 86-year-old woman (who is not rational all the time) understand that she should not call me at work so much? Please help.

— Chambersburg, Pa.
Dear C.P.: Tell your mother a new rule has been set: Employees are not to receive calls during working hours. Explain that you will call her every day during your lunch hour. Then do so. Inform your boss of the plan. Tell her if your mother calls she should be told you are busy and cannot come to the phone.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What are the responsibilities of an ex-husband and the girl who broke up a marriage? To put it bluntly — what do they owe the wife and children whose home life they tore up as a result of their fooling around?

When I agreed to give my husband a divorce so he could marry the girl, they both said I was very generous, very understanding, and very sweet about everything.

For three months, the support checks came on time and everything was hunky dory. But things suddenly changed. I have not received a dime in the last two months and my ex-husband does not answer his phone.

I called the girl last night. She said they had had an argument and she hasn't seen him in five weeks. When I asked what she was going to do about me and the children she said, "I have no obligation to you."

What do you say, Ann Landers? In my book, she has a moral and legal responsibility. Yes or no? — Dumped and Bitter

Dear D and B: I doubt she has any legal responsibility. As for the moral aspects of the situation, you already know what her morals are like. Don't look to the girl for anything but see a lawyer about your husband's delinquency.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My daughter Melinda and her husband were married for eight years and dying to be parents. Nothing happened, so they decided to adopt.

After being interviewed by three adoption agencies and waiting 14 months, they gave up hope and went the "gray route." They paid a lawyer $2,000 to get a baby for them.

Well, Ann, they got the cutest baby in this whole world, — a little girl who looked so much like Melinda I couldn't believe my eyes. They were in seventh heaven!

Three months ago, on the baby's first birthday, they received a phone call from a lawyer. The baby's natural mother wants the child back.

The lawyer said she was mentally ill when she signed the release papers, etc. To make a long story short, the mother took my daughter and her husband to court and won. We are all heart sick. Is this fair? Is it decent? Is it human? What can be done? — A.L.P.

Dear A.L.P.: It's neither fair, decent, nor human, but the court usually sides with the natural mother. For this reason I advise people to stay away from gray markets. Deal only through adoption agencies. They do not let the mother know who has her child and such tragedies as you described do not occur.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents... if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged by Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright 1971)

Brighten Flower Pots With Enamel Paint

BY CAPPY DICK

As a gift for your home, get out old clay flower pots stored in the basement or garage and them clean. Let them dry thoroughly in the sun before painting them.

Use several bright colors of enamel. Decide how to combine two or more of them in decorating a pot.

You might paint one pot with bright red enamel and, while the paint is still wet, daub some generous splotches of bright blue, light green or black at the top. The thick blobs will run down through the red, creating an attractive combination of colors.

Another way is to stipple a second color over the first. This is done by first painting the entire pot one color, then, after it has dried, dipping the end of a stiff-bristled brush into another color and daubing it all over the first.

Still another way is to apply a coat of one color and let it dry, then paint some stripes or polka dots of another color. The stripes may be painted up and down or around the pot. Monday: Lots more good fun for every boy and girl!

Bright Colors

Decorate them with enamel paint as the boy is doing in the picture. The pots will then be very bright when flowers have been planted in them.

Summer Theaters Take To 'Fiddler on Roof'

Jingo's Amazed at Production of Same Musical All Over Wisconsin

BY JINGO
That ever popular "Fiddler on the Roof" seems to have captured the fancy of Wisconsin Community theaters this year — it just played in Oshkosh on the Town and Gown series with a professional road show doing it.

Riverside Theater, Neenah, has chosen "Fiddler" for its musical this summer under Ken Anderson. Dudley Birder's going to direct Music Theatre-Green Bay in a production of the same musical Aug. 19 through Aug. 22 and the next week, Aug. 25 through Aug. 29 in Pennings Hall of Fine Arts at St. Norbert College.

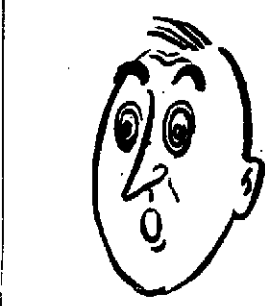

West High School-Preble also is giving the musical.

Two in Milwaukee
The Milwaukee Players open the show May 7 as a sort of celebration for their 40th anniversary of being in business. The Players' production is May 7, 8, 14, 15 and 16, all evening shows with an 8:30 p.m. curtain, except a 2 p.m. matinee the closing Sunday. The shows are at West Division High School, 2300 W. Highland Ave., Milwaukee.

Meanwhile, over at Greendale, The Suburban Players will be giving — guess what? "Fiddler on the Roof" May 7, 8, 14 and 15 at Greendale High School, 6801 Southway.

There probably are more productions, but these Jingo knows about for sure. Also, Jingo shudders just a little; Altic Theatre toyed with the idea of "Fiddler" briefly, then chose the musical "Sweet Charity" instead.

Change of Schedule
Dudley Birder has announced a change of schedule in the Music Theatre-Green Bay production. Auditions for singers, that includes a revolving stage.

Jingo

Hall of Fine Arts, St. Norbert College. He says he needs 42 singing, acting and dancing roles and they will come from Green Bay and area communities.

The musical tells the story of hard working Jewish families in the impoverished peasant town of Anatevka in Czarist Russia of 1905. Joseph Stein wrote the play, which is based on the stories of author Sholem Aleichem.

The plot centers about dairyman Tevye, who tries to live by his traditions, which includes the papa of the family choosing the husbands of his daughters. The plot quickens into a delightful story when Tevye's five marriageable daughters have other ideas.

Guest Artist
Robert G. Pitman returns to the Milwaukee Players, where he got his start, as guest artist in the Tevye role. The well-known professional actor-director is playing with his original company in "Fiddler".

Jingo also has there's an exciting set being built for the Players' production. The cast of 45 will perform on a raised area, that includes a revolving stage.

Ripon Concert Sunday Night

Baritone, Pianist To Present Last Program in Series

RIPON — The last concert in this year's series by the Ripon College Music Department will be presented Sunday night by baritone Douglas Morris and pianist Donald Spies.

Open to the public, the program is at 8:15 p.m. in First Congregational Church.

The opening number is one of the program highlights — Mr. Morris will sing three English "ayres" of the Elizabethan period, accompanied by Mr. Spies on the harpsichord. The sound of the harpsichord closely resembles that of the lute, used in Elizabethan days.

Beethoven's "An die Ferne Geliebte" (To the Distant Beloved), one of the first art songs in the Song Cycle, lieder songs of Hugo Wolf, Don Quixote songs of Maurice Ravel, and a collection by American composer Charles Ives are among the program numbers.

Green Bay Chorus In Concert Sunday

GREEN BAY — The 41-member Green Bay Community Chorus will present its second musical event of the year at 8:15 p.m. Sunday in the Franklin Junior High School Auditorium.

Trinidad Chavez, choral director at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, will direct. The chorus will be accompanied by a small chamber orchestra, and Mrs. Muriel Davis.

Pantomimist to Give Demonstration at Oshkosh Monday

OSHKOSH — Pantomimist Claude Kipnis, pupil of the celebrated Marcel Marceau, will spend three days next week at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh as part of the Panorama of the Arts series. He is the third artist-in-residence to appear on the WSU-O campus this week and next as part of the series. The others are the gifted young violinist Glenn Dieterow, who gave a concert Monday night, and Artist Chuck Close, who gave an illustrated talk Wednesday night.

Kipnis will give a creative mime demonstration at 8 p.m. Monday, in the Experimental Theater of the Fine Arts Center. There is no charge for this performance to which the public is invited.

LAW DAY U.S.A. MAY 1.

Law is a kind of love.

What higher expression of man's feeling for man exists than that which seeks justice, compassion and equality for all men?

Law shelters and protects. It must always listen. Hold true. Remain calm and compassionate.

Law is sometimes restrictive because everyone's ideals are hard to maintain. Limiting to an extent because every freedom must have some limit.

Law represents the best thinking, the highest ideals of man for mankind.

If it becomes outdated, each of us is to blame. If it fails us, we've failed it.

Law insists upon order and peace. But it beckons change and improvement. Without law there would be no constructive change. Or freedom. Or justice. Or equality.

Without these there would be no love. We're all brothers under the law. Woven together by common conscience and need.

Law is a kind of love.

Channel change through law and reason.

Four Injured in Two-Car Crash East of Omro

OSHKOSH — Three Oak Creek people and an Omro man were injured early this morning when their cars collided on State 21, two miles east of Omro, shortly before 1 a.m.

A car driven by Peter L. Redlin, 49, 447 Walnut St., Omro, burned and was called a total loss. He was in Mercy Medical Center in good condition with a nose injury today.

Three occupants of a car driven by Kenneth L. Nordall, 49, Oak Creek, were also hospitalized at Mercy. Nordall was reported in good condition with back and shoulder injuries. Beatrice H. Nordall, 47, was in fair condition and under observation for possible internal injuries. Candace S. Nordall, 11, was in good condition after examination for chest pains and contusions.

County sheriff's officers said the eastbound Redlin car drifted left on the center line and collided with the westbound Nordall vehicle.

An estimated $1,100 damage resulted from an accident about 1:30 p.m. Friday on Gruenwald Avenue at North Street, Town of Neenah, when cars driven by Vern W. Snyder, 69, 402 12th St., Neenah, and Robert J. Laplant, 28, Rt. 4, Green Bay, collided.

Neenah Parents Plan SHS Post-Prom Party

NEENAH — Parents of junior students at Shattuck High School recently met to discuss plans for the traditional post-prom party.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mr. and Mrs. Warren Carlson. Selected as chairmen of committees are Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brown, refreshments; Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, Decorations; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Towne, entertainment; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Christensen, clean-up, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Claghorn, publicity.

Each year the parents of the junior students give an informal post-prom party following the prom, which will be held May 15. The post-prom follows at 12:30 a.m. Any parent of any Shattuck junior who wants to help is urged to call one of the committee chairmen and volunteer.

13-Year-Old Charged In Theft From Station

NEENAH — A 13-year-old boy has been found delinquent in connection with his involvement with a $362 theft of Sam's Cigo on April 13.

The youth appeared before Winnebago County Juvenile Judge James G. Sarres Thursday and was ordered grounded until a June 2 hearing and placed under the supervision of the county department of social services.

A 17-year-old boy was found delinquent on charges of indecent exposure. He was charged on April 8 after an incident at Taft School. He was placed on supervision for one year.

Third Catholic Seminary Offered for Sale to State

MADISON — A third Catholic school which will cease operations has been offered for sale to the state, according to a letter sent by Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, to Gov. Patrick Lucey.

Lorge informed the governor that the Blessed Sacrament Preparatory Seminary at Waukegan, a 72 acre institution located on Silver Lake, will close following the 1971 graduation and may be purchased by the state for use by a state agency or for recreation. Lorge suggested the governor appoint a person to examine the facilities and make a recommendation on its purchase.

Bobby Herriot, trumpet soloist, will appear in concert with the Appleton High School-West Concert and Jazz bands at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the auditorium. Herriot, known for the slanted bell trumpet he plays, currently is first trumpeter with CBC in Vancouver, B.C. He has appeared on many television programs, including Mike Douglas, Steve Allen, the Bell Telephone Hour and the Tonight Show. Herriot has performed in Carnegie Hall and with Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops, and played with the bands of Xavier Cugat, Lionel Hampton and Buddy Rich. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1.50 for students and are available at AHS-West and at Heid's Music Store.

Behind-the-Wheel Course MHS Offers Summer Drivers' Education

MENASHA — Menasha High School will offer the summer behind-the-wheel drivers education program beginning June 14 and ending Aug. 20, Jack Vanden Boogaard, drivers education coordinator, announced.

Registration will start Tuesday and end on Friday. The registration is only for Menasha High students who have satisfactorily passed the drivers education classroom work within the past year and who will be 16 years old before next Oct. 20. The fee of $5 must be paid at the time of registration. The hours for registration are at 7:30 a.m. and at 12:30 p.m. in the auditorium lobby of the high school.

12 Hours

The behind-the-wheel course consists of six hours behind the wheel and six hours of observation. Each student will drive and observe one hour per day for four days a week for three weeks. This is the minimum required by the state motor vehicle department.

Students are cautioned to consider vacations and summer jobs when registering, as changing dates or hours for driving lessons is difficult.

The license examiners will be at the high school in the evenings on May 24, 25 and 27 to give the written and eye tests to the high school students who have registered for the summer program. Everyone registered for the summer program must secure his temporary license at this time.

Announcements will be made in school with more information, Vanden Boogaard said.

Parents are urged to have their son or daughter enroll in this course, as any student who does not have his driver's license and did not take driver's education will have to wait until he is 18 years old before obtaining the license under state law.

Also, Vanden Boogaard encouraged parents to provide practice time at home for their teenagers at a minimum rate of four hours per week.

"The school's responsibility is to teach the students, the parents' responsibility is to provide practice time at home if we want our teenagers to become safe drivers," he said.

Stage Circus To be June 10

County Deputy Sheriffs Sponsor Holiday Hippodrome

The Outagamie County Deputy Sheriff's Association will sponsor Holiday Hippodrome stage circus June 10 at Xavier High School.

At least one, 90-minute evening performance will be held and more will be scheduled if warranted by ticket sales.

Holiday Hippodrome, a Florida-based show which has appeared throughout the nation, features circus performers and variety acts of interest to children.

Tickets, which are the same price for children and adults, are now being sold. The deputies association, a non-profit organization, will use the proceeds from the show to finance youth and law enforcement related programs.

The association holds one major fund raising event each year. Last year, proceeds from a dance were used to sponsor 13 delinquent and underprivileged boys at Rawhide, Inc. and to outfit a Black Creek Little League baseball team.

'County Fair' Set Sunday in Menasha

MENASHA — The St. Patrick's Sanctuary Society will sponsor a "County Fair" beginning at noon Sunday in St. Patrick's cafeteria, 320 Nicolet Boulevard.

Chairmen for the event are Mrs. Norman Koss and Mrs. Richard Mulder. Among items featured will be a white elephant booth, bakery, fancy work, beer stand food, games, music, cakewalk and spook room. There will also be door prizes.

Organizations running the booths include St. Patrick's School's Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Webelos, Athletic Club, choir, Home School Association, and St. Mary's Tennis Club.

Student Arrested For Obscene Antiwar Sign

OSHKOSH — An Oshkosh State University Student appeared in county court Friday morning on a disorderly conduct charge brought against him the day before when he was attempting to drape an anti-war slogan containing an obscene word over a speed limit sign.

An Oshkosh policeman on patrol of the campus area, said he was stopped by a student who informed him that a young man had a sign containing obscene language and he was going to put it over the speed limit sign in the middle of Algoma Boulevard on the OUS campus.

Police arrested Floyd Wouters Jr., 24, 1137 Wisconsin Ave., Oshkosh, and charged him with disorderly conduct by "indecent and profane and otherwise disorderly conduct that tended to cause and provoke a disturbance."

Wouters, released on his own recognizance, will appear in court May 14.

Three From County Drafted in April

OSHKOSH — David E. Tews, 32½ Columbian Ave., Neenah, is one of three Winnebago County men inducted into the armed forces during April.

The other two are Stephen W. Hermann, 2168 W. Mikesville Road, and Russell James Hoxell III, 632 Monroe St., both of Oshkosh.

Women's Signatures Valid; Exec Petitions Over Goal

OSHKOSH — For a while, Winnebago Organization Restructuring Committee (WORC) was worried that 600 signatures it had laboriously collected on a petition to force action on a county executive would be invalid.

About 600 county women, who evidently have not heard the woman's liberation message, signed the petition using their husbands' names, thus: Mrs. Alex Nation instead of Mrs. Carrie Nation.

WORC chairman William Neer, hearing of a question over the legality of unliberated signatures in a petition asking for a sanitary district in the Town of Neenah, requested an opinion from county clerk Dorothy Propp.

She was unsure and checked with Wisconsin Secretary of State Robert C. Zimmerman. He said the signatures were perfectly legal and valid.

Neer claimed WORC is "ready to roll." It will hold a meeting next week and probably decide to present the petition to the county board in May or June at the latest, Neer said.

The petitions will force the county board to create the executive position or put it on the ballot as a referendum question.

Mrs. Propp said WORC must present 5,600 signatures, 15 per cent of those voting in the last gubernatorial election. Neer says there are over 6,300 names.

State Home, Family Council Is Abolished

Only 1 Committee Member Supports Controversial Agency

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Home and Family Council was abolished Friday by a 9-1 vote of the legislature's Joint Finance Committee.

The controversial agency, which has been courting disaster for some time by spending a large sum of money nearly equal to its annual budget for a conference at the Pioneer Inn, Oshkosh, last fall, delegating its conference planning responsibilities to a Madison public relations firm at a cost of about $12,000 and firing and rehiring its staff and executive director repeatedly, met defeat when the committee reviewed the legislature's budget.

The council, which had been an independent agency since its formation, had requested a budget of about $112,000 for the coming biennium in order to increase its work that involves studying the family, marriage, divorce and other related matters. The governor, however, had proposed that the council be made a standing joint committee of the legislature and that its budget be reduced to $39,500 for the biennium.

Despite some strong sentiment among a few legislators for the agency, which is charged with researching the causes of family breakdown, the joint finance committee seemed to represent the stronger view that the council has failed and should be abolished. Only Rep. Byron Wackett, R-Waterloo, who explained that he had made a commitment to support the council "one more time," opposed the motion to abolish the council.

29,456 Boxes of Girl Scout Cookies Sold in Twin Cities

NEENAH-MENASHA — A total of 29,456 boxes of Girl Scout cookies were ordered by Twin City residents this year. The total is a substantial gain over the number of orders taken in 1970, according to cookie sales chairmen.

Mrs. Robert Lieber, Neenah Girl Scout Association cookie chairman, reported 16,868 orders placed in the Neenah area. Mrs. Kenneth Waldburger, Menasha Association cookie chairman, said 12,588 orders were taken by Menasha scouts.

Menashan Elected to Optometrist Board

MENASHA — Dr. Dale Tetrault has been elected to a three-year term as a member of the Wisconsin Optometric Association Board of Directors.

Dr. Tetrault is a graduate of Indiana University with a doctor of Optometry degree in 1964, the same year he started practice in Menasha.

He is a past president of the Menasha Rotary, a member of Winnebago County Big Brothers and former officer of the Wisconsin Optometric Association Journal.

Anti-Abortion Law Support Democrats Kill Resolution

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Assembled Democrats conducted their first lengthy and heated party caucus of the session this week before voting along party lines against a GOP-sponsored anti-abortion resolution.

GOP sources claimed Friday that the Democrats had to threaten some representatives with loss of party leadership posts to assure the vote, but Democrats viewed the reports as politically-inspired rumors launched in an attempt to save face in light of a GOP strategy debacle.

House Speaker Robert T. Huber said the Democrats' caucus Thursday did not engage in arm twisting to arrive at a party consensus. He added that it probably increased rather than decreased party unity.

When the Democrats came out of the closed caucus, they unanimously viewed the resolution sponsored by Rep. William G. LaFave, R-Peshigo, as an attempt to glorify Atty. Gen. Robert Warren's court fight to preserve the state's abortion statute.

The resolution said that the legislature "supports" the efforts of the attorney general, who is a Republican, to prevent federal court meddling in state court prosecution under Wisconsin's anti-abortion law.

Judge James E. Doyle of U.S. District Court in Madison has enjoined the state from prosecuting the director of a reputed Madison abortion clinic and Warren has appealed—so

University Systems UWGB Challenges Savings in Merger

Special to The Post-Crescent

GREEN BAY — In a statement released today, the university committee of the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay challenged the claim that merger of the UW and Wisconsin State University systems would effect substantial savings in the state's higher education budget.

Opposing "hasty action" on the merger proposal put forward in Gov. Patrick J. Lucey's budget message to the legislature, the six-member faculty body posed a series of questions that must be answered, in their judgment, before action is taken on the merger proposal.

Among the questions raised by the committee were the following:

—Will merger eliminate duplication of programs through the voluntary cooperation of autonomous campuses within the merged system?

Probably not, the committee felt. Rather, "elimination of duplication can only be accomplished by a strong central administration or administrator."

Yet some who favor merger are opposed to a strong central authority and favor greater campus autonomy.

—Will merger eliminate competition for funds between systems?

No, the committee said, because the demand for funds does not come from a system, but from a campus.

—Will merger save money by equalizing salaries and teaching loads?

Instead of salary savings, the committee contends merger implies additional expenditures to increase the salaries of some faculty members. And if equalizing teaching loads saves money by making all faculty members spend the same amount of time teaching classes, "we will have degraded the quality of undergraduate education. Teaching loads must provide for research time, time that is used to generate the knowledge of which textbooks

2 Submerged Parcels OK'd by Senate for NM Plant Expansion

NEENAH-MENASHA — Two parcels of submerged property in Little Lake Butte des Morts will be deeded by the state to the Neenah-Menasha Sewerage Commission, if the Assembly passes the bill.

The enabling legislation passed the Senate by a unanimous voice vote.

It was introduced by Sen. Jack Steinhuber, R-Oshkosh, at the request of the commission. The land will be filled and used for plant expansion.

Specialist on Creative Teaching of Children to Speak at St. Norbert

DE PERE — Dr. James A. Smith, noted educator-author and specialist on the creative teaching of children, will lecture at St. Norbert College May 6.

The lecture, entitled "Untouched Spirit," will be at 8:15 p.m. in Pennings Hall of Fine Arts. The public is invited at no charge. A public reception for the lecturer will be held following the address.

Dr. Smith is the author of a series of seven books on creative teaching for children. He supports the thesis that creativity has become a precious commodity in America as a mechanized, technological society makes puppets of many persons rather than thinking, contributing members of society.

Driver Gets 30 Days For No Valid License

OSHKOSH — A Menasha man was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail with Huber privileges Thursday afternoon after he pleaded guilty to driving after his driver's license had been cancelled.

Melvin J. Martzahl, 36, 985 Ninth St., Menasha, was arrested April 29 on Main Street in Menasha for driving without a valid driver's license.

County Land Control Authority Switched

committee action would be final or if it would have to go before the entire county board for confirmation.

If upheld, the action would end a duplication in county board rules which has existed for several years in which two committees were given policy jurisdiction over the sale of county land.

When the new rules were adopted by the county board 10 days ago, the authority for setting policy for the disposal of county land was carried over to both the public property and parks committee and the policy and finance committee.

The issue came to a head when the policy and finance committee made a recommendation on an option proposal for county land to the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12 (VTE-12) after the public property and parks committee has held hearings and made a different recommendation.

Supv. Nick Karras, Appleton, chairman of the public property and parks committee, told the rules committee "I can't sit idly by and see this situation exist. We can't have the responsibility (for care of county land) without authority."

Sale or disposal of county owned land be under the control of the policy and finance committee of the Outagamie County Board, the board's rules and legislative committee ruled Friday night.

The action, on a 4-3 vote with board chairman Russell DeLaHunt casting a tie-breaking vote, would relieve the public property and parks committee of all but custodial responsibility for county property.

A question remained whether the rules and legislative committee had traditionally handled the sale of county land and the public property committee always had been only custodian for the courthouse. The policy and finance committee, he said, was only a carryover from the executive committee. DeLaHunt had presented the rules committee with what he termed an "edited" version of the rules which had been passed by the county board and which eliminated from the public property committee duties the references to making recommendations for sale of land.

He said that if the changes were approved by the rules committee they should not go back to the county board for confirmation since they were only correcting errors and eliminating duplication.

DeLaHunt said he and Supv. Marvin Babbitt, Seymour, another member of the rules committee, went over the adopted rules last Monday "and agreed they had to be changed before they could be printed."

A number of other changes were made, mostly to eliminate references to administrative functions of committees. The rule concerning the emergency government committee was changed to eliminate a conflict with state law and County Executive Alvin Woehler was made an ex-officio member of the personnel committee.

"This is what happens when you run out of time," DeLaHunt said, referring to the redrafting of the rules last year by the previous rules committee. "We didn't go through the committee duties line by line."

Supv. Eugene Kloes, who had been a member of the previous rules committee, said "We sat here a whole year doing nothing." He contended the new policy and finance committee was not intended to be an executive committee. "The committee of jurisdiction should set the policy and the policy committee carry it out," he said.

Supv. Harold Miller, Town of Grand Chute, said the sale of land belonged in the policy and finance committee not from a policy standpoint but because of the financial aspects.

Supv. G. Allen Bubolz, Appleton, argued to leave the sale policy with the public property and parks committee. "Why should the policy and finance committee have the responsibility (of selling land) when that committee doesn't work with the property on a day-to-day basis?" he asked.

Bubolz, John Schreiter and Charles Wussow voted to leave the power to recommend sale of property with the public property and parks committee while Miller, Paul Huseby and Babbitt voted to give the authority to the policy and finance committee. DeLaHunt, who can only vote on a tie, then cast the deciding vote.

On identical 4-3 votes, Wussow was elected committee chairman and Babbitt vice chairman. Miller was unanimously elected secretary.

Drive on to Transfer VTE Cost to State

MADISON — A increasing public awareness of the property tax liability resulting from the development of a larger and higher quality program of district vocational and technical schools has generated another drive to transfer all of the financial responsibility for the schools to the state treasury.

Authors of such a proposal newly presented to the legislature are three Republican senators, James Devitt of Suburban Milwaukee, Reuben LaFave of Oconto, and Walter Chilsen of Waushara.

Chilsen is the chairman of the Republican caucus of the state senate which retains numerical control of the upper house of the legislature.

Vocational school districts. The tax limit is two mills on equalized valuation. In practice, the average rate is about 1.6 mills on that base, which represents, however, a higher maximum liability than was authorized until a few years ago when the limit was fixed to assessed valuation.

Gov. Patrick J. Lucey earlier this year in his "austerity" budget acknowledged the local taxing pressures of the enlarged and improved schools when he asked the legislature to boost state support for the district training programs to about 60 percent of operating costs, at a substantial increase in state costs.

It is estimated that complete state liability for the operating costs of the schools would add at least $50 million a year to the state's budget, a sum that will be difficult to authorize in a time that legislators are worried about hostile reactions to impending state tax boosts.

The current debt service obligations of the districts. The new state senate bill would make the state responsible for future debt contracted by the schools, a sum that is likely to become formidable as the district service planning is put into effect. Until recently the schools were operated by cities and taxpayers were liable and students eligible only on the basis of their residence within a school district.

3-Act Play Set By Kimberly High Drama Group

KIMBERLY — The Kimberly High School Drama department will present four performances of the 3-act play, "The Desperate Hours," at 8 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday in the little theater at the school.

Mr. Johnson is faculty director assisted by Sue Schumacher as student director. Cast members include Randy McSorley, Duane Oudenhoven, Don Kunstman, Bill Kokke, Ruth Wydeven, Linda Hale, Tony Van Belkom, Lynn Geenen, Stan Swokowski, Jeff Moureau, Gino Frassetto, Mike Madill, George Engel and Sandy Vanden Elsen.

Working behind the scenes are Bill Bergeron, construction; Cheryl Van Grinsven and Ann Gosh, properties; Barbara Leiterman, make up; Krissy Wood, costumes; Paula Briggs, publicity; Bill Helf, rights; John Vandehey, sound; Nicholas Williams, house; and Sue Schumacher, stage manager. Tickets will be $1 for students and $1.25 for adults.

Appleton Youth Heads UW Student Group

MADISON — Timothy Higgins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Higgins, 1608 Hillcrest Drive, Appleton, has been elected president of the Wisconsin Student Association at the University of Wisconsin.

Higgins, a Xavier High School graduate, is a junior at UW. He was a delegate to Badger Governor's State and won the boys' post at the event. He also was governor of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Key Club, a service organization of high school boys.

He is active in many student organizations at UW. He won the student association office by a vote of 2,487 to 1,588.

Old Appleton Mills Office

Landmark Is Coming Down

One of Appleton's historic landmarks is being razed. The building, a unique structure built over the canal of the Fox River on S. Oneida Street, served as the office building for Appleton Mills in recent years.

The building has outlived its usefulness and the firm, a manufacturer of wet felts for the papermaking industry, recently built a new, modern office and manufacturing facility.

The building dates back to approximately 1896 when the Appleton Woolen Mills, as the firm was then known, purchased the Lake Superior Knitting Works — a Superior, Wis., based firm which specialized in sweaters, woolens and hosiery for lumbermen and fishermen in northern Wisconsin and Michigan. The firm was moved to Appleton and occupied the building for the next 43 years.

In 1934 a retail store was set up in the front of the building which offered a complete line of yarn and woven goods to area residents. By 1959, Appleton Mills' growth necessitated moving its office personnel into the first floor of the building. The retail operation, which remained at the front of the building, was discontinued later that year and the firm's research operations were moved in.

As a result of growth during the 1960's, it became necessary for Appleton Mills to build much larger manufacturing and office facilities.

Committee OKs Bills For More State, Local Contributions

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Consideration of proposals which would add more than $72 million a year to state and local government's contributions to wards public employee retirement plans should be delayed until next year, Gov. Patrick Lucey said Friday.

Lucey labeled the legislation asked by the State Retirement Research Committee "a financial bombshell."

Two bills endorsed by the committee Friday would cover state and local employees—including judges, legislators, state constitutional officers and teachers—effective July 1, 1972.

Fave, R-Oconto, the chairman of the committee, said employees in the lower salary ranges would be the biggest gainers in improved benefits.

The measures which will be introduced in the Legislature next week will only bring Wisconsin up to the average coverage afforded in other states, he said.

Lucey acknowledged that the systems have deteriorated over a number of years.

"The failure of the state to keep its plans up to date is now coming home to roost," he said.

But the governor insisted the state could not be expected to compensate for "these failures" at a time of sluggish economic growth.

Lucey said the total state cost of the proposal would be about $55 million. And LaFave's figures show that the cost to municipalities would be $17.3 million a year, which would be applied to local property taxes.

Youth Charged With Negligence After Neenah Dam Incident

NEENAH — A 17-year-old boy, who took a trip over the Neenah Dam in a rubber life raft on April 16, has been placed on 30 days supervision and his driver's license is being held by the juvenile judge for 30 days.

The youth, along with another 18-year-old boy, took the raft over the dam. The 17-year-old was charged with operating a boat in a negligent manner endangering life, and operating a rubber raft without life preservers.

Winnebago County Juvenile Judge James G. Sarres ordered the youth placed under parental supervision for 30 days and will hold his driver's license for 30 days.

Man, Teen Suspected In Two Gun Incidents

A man was jailed early today and a teen-ager was ordered to come to the Appleton police station for questioning following separate incidents involving firearms.

Charles R. Vizek, 36, 1224 Woodland Court, was charged with disorderly conduct and confined to the Outagamie County jail for what police said were threats he made to a motorist with a .22 caliber pistol loaded with blanks.

A 17-year-old Appleton youth was told to be at the police station at 9 a.m. after police early today confiscated a sawed-off 12 gauge shotgun, three cartridges and other items from his car. Authorities said they would seek a charge of possession of an illegal firearm against him.

A Menasha man came to the police station at 1:40 a.m. and told authorities he was threatened by a man with a pistol while driving on S. Memorial.

Car Goes Into River Near New London; 2nd Occupant Safe

NEW LONDON — A rural New London man apparently drowned early today after his car struck a tree and went into the Wolf River about two miles west of here.

The body of Dale Krueger, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Krueger, route 1, New London, was recovered about 8 a.m. about 200 feet downriver from the spot where the car went into the water after striking a tree head-on.

A companion in the car, Dale Bellie, 20, also of New London, escaped, and was taken to New London Community Hospital, where he was reported in good condition.

The car was retrieved about an hour and a half after it went into the water but Krueger's body was not in it and dragging operation were begun at 6 a.m.

The Waupaca County Sheriff's department said the accident apparently happened about 3 a.m.

Sporting Equipment Stolen From Garage

OSHKOSH — Theft of some $50 worth of sporting equipment from his garage at 1400 Bonnie Dr., Menasha, was reported to Winnebago County police Friday evening by Fred Meyer, same address. Meyer said four rods and reels and a baseball glove were missing.

Appleton City Engineer Thomas Harp issued the following summary of public works construction projects and their status during the coming week:

— Northeast sanitary sewer trunk line, contractor will be working in the vicinity of Wisconsin Avenue, east of Ballard Road. By the end of the week the main line should be installed to north of the railroad tracks. Westbound traffic will be able to use both lanes of pavement, however motorists are cautioned that trucks will be entering and leaving the job site area.

— Sanitary sewer repair. Contractor will be extending underground facilities at the intersection of Telulah and Coolidge Streets, from there he will move to John Street in the vicinity of Foremost Dairies

Fill Service Gaps

Buses Fine but Clapp Laments Loss of Trains

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Norman Clapp, Secretary of the State Department of Transportation, called Wisconsin's public transit system "imaginative ideas."

During a press conference called to discuss the national railroad passenger train plan, Clapp said that the proposal was most welcome. "It is refreshing someone wants to serve," Clapp said, contrasting the bus company's plan with the railroad's effort to withdraw service.

While the Wisconsin-Michigan company's plan that has been taken to the state Public Service Commission for review, and the already approved bus service between a Columbus stop of the Chicago-Minneapolis train and nearby Madison have been offered, Clapp said the Department of Transportation has been attempting to encourage bus companies in southwest Wisconsin to offer similar service to offset the loss of the Burlington-Northern trains that have served that area.

Clapp was no more optimistic, however, about the possibility of the Wisconsin passenger train routes being restored, either through amendments to the Amtrak system after the plans are reviewed following several months of service under the new system or through state subsidy of the operating losses.

The Department of Transportation along with a newly formed interagency study committee on mass transit and other groups are studying the possibilities of adding to the single railroad passenger route through the state, Clapp said, but "there is nothing of immediate significance."

Not Too Reliable

He estimated, according to what he termed uncertain and not too reliable figures, that it would cost the state about $660,000 a year to subsidize the losses if it were to make a commitment to continuing two runs a day between Green Bay and Milwaukee. That figure, he said, is based on the assumption the losses would be about $1 million a year, and that the state would have to meet only two-thirds of the figure.

The cost might be higher, he said, because there are indications that two-thirds might not be the required subsidy. Further, he said, such service, if provided, would come only after there has been a gap in service, and it might be difficult to get passengers back after they are out of the habit of using trains.

The figures, and proposal to provide feeder service at state expense, to supplement Amtrak, he said, is purely speculative. The whole subject, he said, requires a thorough, long-range study before any action is proposed, and probably after the final Amtrak routes are settled following review of the initial period of operation.

The run by the Chicago & North Western Railway is being terminated as the Amtrak system begins, and replaces private railroads of much of their passenger service.

"Good roads and automobiles, and to a lesser extent the jetliners, are the reasons people have deserted the passenger trains," said Harold Fuller, 65, of Green Bay, one of the railway fans on the trip.

Oscar, Lew Combine for 57 Against Baltimore

By MIKE RECHT
BALTIMORE (AP) — For the first time since he started playing basketball more years ago than he cares to remember, Oscar Robertson sipped the sweetest taste of success.

"This is the first time I've ever had champagne in the dressing room," he said off in one corner with just a trace of sadness as his Milwaukee Bucks teammates celebrated noisily around him.

But the feeling was there for only a brief second, and then a big grin returned to his face.

"We only got soft drinks when we won the title in high school, but this is the big time."

For Oscar, more than any of the Bucks, the champagne was a dream come true, the once seemingly impossible dream. For 10 years he had labored with the Cincinnati Royals, the premier backcourtman in basketball, but never a professional champion.

And then came the trade to Milwaukee last year, and with it the final piece of the puzzle the Bucks so quickly put together in only three short years.

4-Game Sweep

The dream came true Friday night as Robertson led the Bucks to a 118-106 victory over the Baltimore Bullets and a four-game sweep of the best-of-7 game series for the National Basketball Association title.

"I got a great personal satisfaction after what happened to me at Cincinnati," Robertson said, thinking back to the way Royals' coach Bob Cousy tried to trade off the 6-foot-5 star, first to Baltimore and finally to Milwaukee.

"I realize how close I came to being with Baltimore," said the Big O, who rejected the trade through a clause in his contract. "I'm just glad I'm able to be here at this time. If I hadn't someone else would have been here instead of me."

Oscar, still unstoppable at 32 years of age and giving perhaps the finest defensive effort of his career, pumped in 21 of his 30 points in the first half of the nationally-televised finale as the Bucks surged ahead 60-47 by intermission, and never looked back.

And although 7-3 Lew Alcindor, the dominating giant in the middle who notched 27 points in the clincher, was selected the Most Valuable Player in the championship series, Robertson had his own backers.

"The MVP? Oscar," said Coach Gene Shue of the Bullets, without hesitation. "He was the leader, he controlled the offense, he hit the open man and he played tremendous defense. I said when they got him they would be the best team in basketball."

Alcindor, too, who has worked hand-in-glove with his fellow superstar to make the dream possible, had nothing but praise for his running mate.

"Oscar pulled us through," he said after a slapping hand-shake between the two in the center of the wild, wet celebration. "When things bogged down, we could always look to Oscar."

Alcindor, it should be noted, also was drinking the bubbly in the dressing-room for the first time despite three NCAA titles at UCLA.

Royals End Orioles' Mastery On Patek's Ninth-Inning Hit

By KEN RAPPOPORT

After losing 23 games in a row to the Baltimore Orioles, the Kansas City Royals had to come up with something new. They did—a game-winning hit.

Fred Patek broke Baltimore's two-year spell with a run-scoring single in the ninth inning to give the Royals a 5-4 victory, their first over the Orioles since May 9, 1969.

"I knew it was in as soon as I hit it," said Patek, who tagged a slider off Tom Duker to deliver Paul Schaaf with the historic run.

Manager Bob Lemon, who wasn't around when the losing streak started, was glad to be on the scene when it ended.

"The Orioles just don't want you to win," he said, "I guess that's why they're the world champions."

Oakland Wins

Boston checked Minnesota 4-3; Chicago walloped Washington 8-1; New York stopped Milwaukee 5-1; Detroit beat California 7-4 and Oakland turned back Cleveland 3-1 in the other American League games.

It looked like a Baltimore-Kansas City rerun as the Orioles' Boog Powell drove in two runs with a screeching double in the first inning.

"Everytime Powell swings, I think it's going over the scoreboard," said Lemon.

St. Louis ended a four-game losing streak with a 4-2 decision over Montreal as Jose Cardenal drove in the winning runs with a seventh inning triple. No

Win Over San Diego

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

How do you like your baseball strategy—straight forward and by the book or outlandish and revolutionary? Well, if you're scoring, Friday night in the National League belonged to the outlandish and revolutionary.

Pittsburgh beat San Diego 5-3 with left-handed batting Richie Hebner delivering three hits including the game-winner, giving him six hits in the last two games, all against lefties.

Revolutionary. New York trimmed Houston 4-3 in 12 innings with Ken Boswell making a dazzling game-ending catch after shading pull-hitter Bob Watson, a right-

St. Louis ended a four-game losing streak with a 4-2 decision over Montreal as Jose Cardenal drove in the winning runs with a seventh inning triple. No pinch hitter stirred even though until that hit, Cardenal was 0-for-17.

Elsewhere in the NL Friday, Philadelphia shut out Chicago 1-0, Atlanta took Los Angeles 7-2 and San Francisco whipped Cincinnati 7-5.

Hebner, freed of the platoon system he played under last year, celebrated with three more hits against the Padres including the seventh inning single that snapped a 3-3 tie. Earlier he had singled and doubled in Pirate rallies that wiped out a 3-0 Padre lead built on Ollie Brown's home run.

"There's nothing like playing every day," said the happy Hebner.

Hebner's winning hit brought home Dave Cash, who had singled with two out in the seventh and moved up on a passed ball. Al Oliver tripped another run home in the eighth.

Eighth Inning Homer

The Mets built a 3-0 lead against Houston but the Astros came back to tie on Joe Morgan's eighth inning homer.

Singles by Bud Harrelson and Boswell sandwiched around a sacrifice got the Mets the go-ahead run in the 12th but Houston had two on and two out in the bottom half with Watson at bat.

"I knew I should play him to poll," said second baseman Boswell. "But he already had three hits, all to the right side. So I shaded him to right a bit. I kept saying to myself, 'I shouldn't be over this far.'"

But it paid off for Boswell when Watson lifted a soft liner to the right side and the Met second baseman made a one-hand catch to end the game.

Lou Brock had three hits for the Cardinals but it was Cardenal's big triple that moved St. Louis past Montreal. He connected with two out in the seventh after Brock had singled and Joe Torre walked.

The Expos had tied the game in the top of the seventh on a single by John Bateman, Mack Jones' double and a passed ball.

Atlanta Explodes
Atlanta exploded for six runs in the fifth inning to whack Los Angeles. Sonny Jackson had a single and a double in the big rally as 11 Braves went to bat.

Bobby Bonds drove in three runs with a homer and a single and San Francisco came from behind to defeat Cincinnati. The Giants survived a pair of lemyre to Steve Kline.

With Stottlemyre, Fritz Peterson and Stan Bahnsen all having their problems in the early going, the 23-year-old Kline has been the only consistent starter. Friday night he ran his record to 3-1 with a four-hit 5-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers, losing a chance for his second shutout when Dave May homered with two out in the ninth.

Singles Twice

Kline was on display most of the evening. He singled twice to start a pair of two-run rallies, scoring position and four times dashed over to first base to record putouts on flips from Danny Cater.

"He's a real good athlete," said Manager Ralph Houk.

"He's a pretty good hitter, a real good fielder and the same type pitcher as Stottlemyre, a low breaking-ball pitcher. If he fools around with our pitchers long enough, though, he'll probably lose that hitting stroke."

Aaron Congratulated By George Wallace

ATLANTA (AP) — Henry Aaron said Thursday he received a telegram of congratulations for hitting his 600th career home run from Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

"I got a nice one from George and I'm mighty pleased he sent it," said the Atlanta Braves star, who is a native of Mobile, Ala.

864 Bowl-O-Rama Total

Clintonville Man Takes Sixth Place

BY JIM HARP

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Al Tanty, of Clintonville, created the biggest stir in the ninth annual Bowl-O-Rama Friday night as he fired an 864 total to move into a tie for sixth place.

Tanty's total was rolled in the men's Class B division and included 728 pins scratch to go with 136 handicap.

It was "Bonduel Night" on the 9 p.m. shift with a large contingent of keggers from that area moving in for the competition sponsored by The Post-Crescent at the 41 Bowl.

Four keggers from the Bonduel squad made their presence felt by rolling into places in the top 10 standings of the four divisions.

In men's Class A, Warren Kamke, Bonduel, hit 862 to take the No. 11 spot and next hit 210, slipped to 155 and closed best performance in Class A his four games with a booming as an 851 by Ted Conger of 213.

The Bowl-O-Rama has a night off tonight because of the state women's bowling tournament at the 41 Bowl. Action will resume with a pair of shifts on Sunday night. Entry blanks are still available for the tournament.

Tanty tied for the No. 6 spot in Class B with his 864 count by opening with a 162 scratch and then following with 201, 168 and 197. His 728 scratch count went along with 136 handicap for the 864.

Appleman also had 728 scratch in Class B and would have been much higher had he not sandwiched a pair of 150 games between counts over 200. Appleman started with 150, then over the No. 11 spot and next hit 210, slipped to 155 and closed best performance in Class A his four games with a booming as an 851 by Ted Conger of 213.

Tripleheader Boxing Card Set May 10

Six Heavyweights Including Foreman, Ellis on Program

OAKLAND (AP) — George Foreman, the No. 1 contender, spoke for five other heavyweights Thursday when asked in what area he needed to improve the most.

"My bankroll," the 22-year-old fighter answered quickly.

Foreman and four of the other boxers who will appear in a May 10 tripleheader, to be carried by closed circuit television, were interviewed Thursday by telephone on an open line hooking up several cities.

Canada's George Chuvalo, who will fight Jimmy Ellis, was asked if he thought he "could handle the kid."</

Johnny Dee Quits As Irish Mentor

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Johnny Dee, who took Notre Dame basketball teams to five post-season tournaments in his seven years as head coach, resigned Friday.

Dee said he will leave coaching and return to his law practice in Denver, his home.

"I've mentioned several times over the past two years that my future plans included something other than coaching. I think this is as good a time as any to start doing some of those things," Dee said.

The Rev. Edmund Joyce, chairman of the faculty board in control of athletics at Notre Dame, said, "We are extremely grateful to Johnny Dee for the magnificent resurgence of our basketball program. He undertook a difficult assignment seven years ago and gave us exciting and successful basketball." Dee's cagers won 116 games and lost 80 during his even seasons.

That record includes a slate of 82-33 and four post-season tournaments during the past four years.

Dee 48, had coached for four seasons at Alabama, 1952-56.

Bucks Defeat Bullets, Win 1st NBA Title

The only Buck ever to play on an NBA champion was Coach Larry Costello with Philadelphia in 1966-67.

And he, too, gave credit to Oscar, although he wouldn't be drawn in to an MVP selection.

"Oscar and Lew, they're co-MVP's," he said. "Oscar gave each player confidence, more than they ever possessed," he added. "They knew what he had done in his great career, and they knew they could always turn to him."

But even with Alcindor and Robertson, Costello never expected a championship sweep, only the second in NBA history.

But the Bucks, no doubt aided by crippling injuries to Bullets starting Eddie Miles, Gus Johnson and Earl Monroe, completely dominated the series.

After wiping out first San Francisco and then Los Angeles in five games, the Bucks stormed past the Bullets by no less than eight points in any of the four games to win a playoff pool of $212,000, which will come to about $15,000 per man.

The Bullets, who upset the defending champion New York Knicks to reach the final left with $152,000 and their heads high.

Shue Doesn't Want To Discuss Injuries

By GORDON BEARD

BALTIMORE (AP) — Coach Gene Shue of the Baltimore Bullets said he didn't want to talk about his team's injuries, fearing it might be construed as an excuse.

But those who watched the Bullets lose four straight to the Milwaukee Bucks in the National Basketball Association's championship series knew Baltimore was far from being at peak strength.

It was apparent even when the Bullets made their final futile attempt at a comeback on Friday night's 118-106 loss which completed the sweep.

Trailing 60-47 at halftime, the Bullets struck quickly for three baskets to pull within 60-53 as the Civic Center crowd began to stir.

But the handwringing was on the wall, even before the spurt fizzled and the Bucks retailed with a 10-point streak to go ahead 70-53.

Earl Monroe, always troubled with chronic knee problems and additionally hobbled with a pulled groin muscle, limped badly after scoring the first basket of the third period.

Shue sent Kevin Loughery, troubled during Baltimore's 18 games of playoff action by a heel injury, to the scorer's table with instructions to replace Monroe.

But Earl, who is reported ready to jump to an American Basketball Association team next season, managed to drive in for another basket. Loughery was called back to the bench by a smiling Shue.

Then, Gus Johnson tapped the ball away from the Milwaukee player and hustled downcourt for a feed from Monroe and a stuff shot.

As the Bucks called time out and the crowd went wild, Johnson barely made it back to the bench and grimaced in pain as he slumped in his seat.

Gus has severely damaged knees which will require surgery later this month, and he has been in and out of the lineup during the playoffs while receiving many pain-killing shots.

Monroe was able to play only 22 minutes and scored 11 points in 27 minutes of action. On the bench, with a leg in a cast, was swing man Eddie Miles, who tore his Achilles tendon two months to go in the season.

While praising Milwaukee, Shue said: "I still feel at full strength, we can beat the Bucks."

"In the New York series," he said, "the Knicks were hurt because Willis Reed couldn't do the job. We were hurting too, but we overcame it. But we went into this series still hurt after being drained in two previous seven-game series, and we just couldn't do it."

Center Wes Unseld of Baltimore, who at 6-7 1/2 outbounded 7-2 Lew Alcindor, 76-74 in the series, declined to blame the sweep on injuries.

"You can't look at it that way," he said. "After all, those guys got us to the finals with injuries."

Weyauwega Wins, Retains ECC Co-Lead

HORTONVILLE — Weyauwega retained its share of first place in the East Central Conference Thursday by defeating Hortonville, 8-3.

The Indians, (2-0), scored four runs in the first and repeated the effort in the fourth. Hortonville (0-2) tallied single runs in the first, third and fifth innings.

Greg Oehlke was the winner's top hitter with a 2-for-4 day. Mark Everts and Brian Pankow each went 2-for-3 for the losers.

Everts had the only extra base play of the game, a triple.

Winner Chip Wall framed three and issued two walks. Bruce Beyer and Randy Mulroy worked for Hortonville, yielding five walks and striking out eight.

Police & Fire Beat

Several persons were injured, one seriously enough to be hospitalized, following four traffic accidents in Appleton Friday and early today.

Robert Johnson, 18, 220 E. Calumet St., was satisfactory at St. Elizabeth Hospital this morning with head cuts and chest injuries sustained when the car in which he was riding, driven by Betty J. Korh, 24, 821 N. Morrison St., left Wisconsin Avenue about 3:30 a.m. and struck a power pole several hundred feet west of Ballard Road.

Johnson, and the Korh woman, who was bumped on the head, were taken to the hospital by ambulance. She was treated and released.

Kenneth Havel, 18, 1708 E. Randall Ave., was cut on the lip and his passenger, Richard L. Cooney, 17, 1897 E. Pauline St., received a nose cut when their car slid out of control on wet pavement as Havel was turning left onto Ballard Road from Wisconsin Avenue and hit a power pole early today.

Mrs. Arnold Hopfensperger, 45, 1212 N. Leminwah St., was bumped on the right knee late Friday afternoon when the car she was riding in, operated by Marilyn L. Reetz, 24, 1014 W. Kamps Ave., collided in the intersection of Leminwah and Nevada streets with one driven by Phyllis M. Callaway, 45, 1120 E. Nevada St.

Katherine A. Kitts, 4, 1901 N. Division St., was bumped on the forehead in a 2 p.m. accident at Owaissa and Pauline Streets. Police said the girl was hurt when the car she was in, driven by Barbara D. Kozlowski, 27, 1614 E. Randall Ave., collided in the intersection with one operated by Jean A. Funk, 33, of Black Creek.

Wayne R. Schimmers, 27, 608 N. Division St., pleaded innocent Friday to a disorderly conduct charge lodged last Saturday by Appleton police. Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer set a May 13 trial, before Judge Gustave Keller.

Appleton police accuse Schimmers and Frank Krause, 58, 1215 S. Oneida St., with engaging in a knife and bar stool fight at a downtown tavern. Krause failed to appear in court Friday. Bond of $100 was set for Schimmers. Police, who attempted to contact Krause later Friday, set both men free on their own recognizance after the incident.

Roger Rohe, 27, Cicero, Ill., was fined $100 and costs Friday for theft. He pleaded guilty to the charge before Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer. Appleton detectives said that Rohe stole a .32 caliber automatic pistol, from a display case at Schiedermayer Hardware, 623 W. College Ave., April 21.

Sue Ann Krueger, 19, E. Marquette St., pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs Friday on a shoplifting charge. Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer imposed the fine. The girl took a compact from the downtown H. C. Prange store April 23.

Mrs. Eleanor Ganzel, 46, 313 E. Doty St., Neenah, will stand trial Monday on a shoplifting charge. She pleaded innocent to the count Friday before Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer. Mrs. Ganzel is accused of taking a package of throat lozenges and pack of cough drops from the downtown H. C. Prange store April 14. Schaefer set bond at $75.

Sally Spreeman, 28, 225 Buchanan St., Little Chute, was placed on two years' probation Thursday on two amended worthless check charges to which she had pleaded guilty.

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer directed that she make restitution for the two checks, which county investigators said she signed with the name Earl C. Spreeman March 18. The checks totaled $70. The checks were drawn on the Bank of Little Chute and passed in the village.

Five other worthless checks, totaling $110, were taken into consideration Thursday. Schaefer directed that restitution be made for those also, and that Mrs. Spreeman reimburse the county for a court-appointed attorney and pay court costs.

Mrs. Caroline Hinzman, 60, 1617 W. Franklin St., pleaded innocent Thursday to a shoplifting charge. Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer set a pre-trial conference for May 5. Bond of $100 was set for Mrs. Hinzman. She is accused of taking two brassieres from the downtown H. C. Prange Store April 23.

Appleton police are investigating two Thursday break-ins. Burglars gained entry to Perry-Ernst Menswear, 127 W. College Ave., by kicking in a rear door. Nothing apparently was missing. A door glass was smashed to get inside Karras Vending Service, 1125 E. Wisconsin Ave. Authorities said an inventory was being taken to determine if anything was missing.

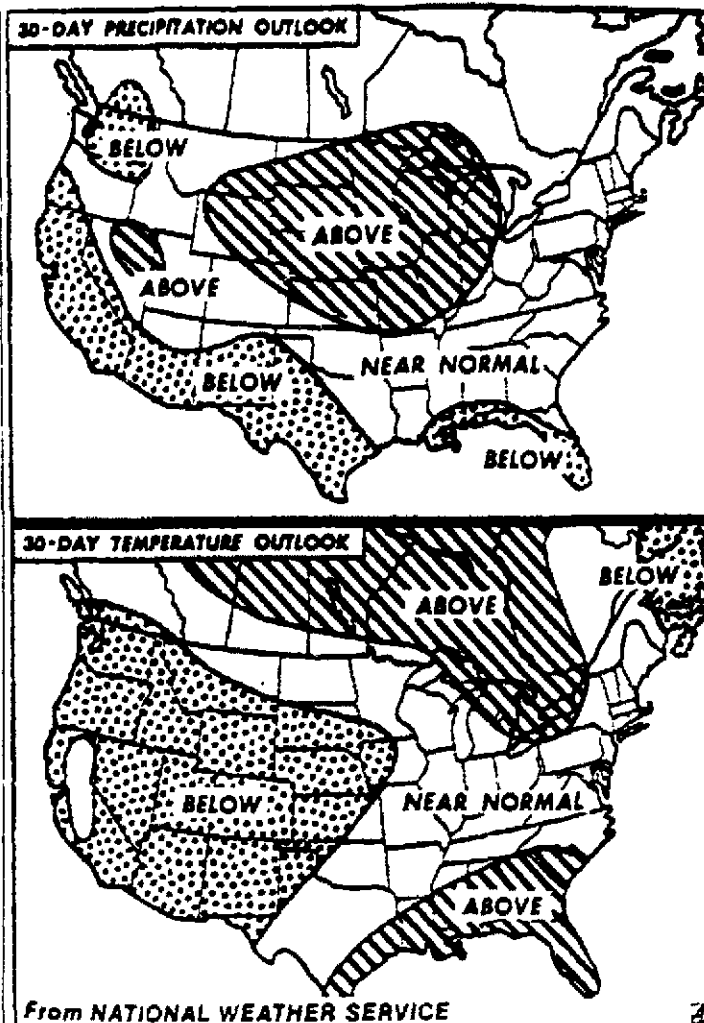

LITTLE CHUTE — An undetermined amount of change was taken from coin-operated machines at the Log Cabin, Main Street and Sanitarium Road, during a break-in discovered by police about 3:55 a.m. Thursday.

Police had checked the business at 2:20 a.m. and found nothing amiss. A second check revealed that a beer chute was forced open to gain entry.

LITTLE CHUTE — Two garage entries were reported to police Wednesday, bringing to 11 the number reported ransacked this week. Mark Peeters, 505 S. Wilson St., reported a fishing tackle box and camping lantern missing, the value set at $50. William Jansen, 710 N. Wilson St., reported a flashlight taken from the glove compartment of his car and an older flashlight left in return.

KAUKAUNA — The theft of 11 tapes valued at $55 and two speakers valued at $11 from his car while it was parked near Kaukauna High School between 8 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Wednesday was reported to police by Paul Knapp, 1205 Crooks Ave.

Knapp said that the car was locked and a side vent window was forced open to gain entry. An unsuccessful attempt was made to get the tachometer.

Thirty-Day Weather Averages for the Fox Valley include a temperature of 50 degrees at the beginning of the month rising to 60 degrees by the end. Precipitation for May averages 3.06 inches. (AP Wirephoto Maps)

Kaukauna Radar Use Expanded

KAUKAUNA — With arrival of a special battery pack, the Kaukauna police department has inaugurated use of radar by an officer without benefit of a squad car in a further crack-down on speeders. The unit makes it possible for an officer to stand on the curb and check traffic from either direction merely by aiming the radar unit in the direction of traffic. When a speeder is noted, the officer merely has to step from the curb to stop the offender. "Our aim is not to make arrests, but to slow traffic through the community to help safeguard pedestrians and prevent accidents," said Police Chief William Nagel. The radar unit will be continued to be used both in the squad car and by officers on foot patrol in areas where a speeding problem is noted, according to Nagel.

Kaukauna Firm Will Lay Off 50 Employees

Badger Northland Announces Cutback To One Shift Monday

KAUKAUNA — Badger Northland Inc., here will lay off an estimated 50 employees Monday according to Kent Lyons, the firm's director of manufacturing.

An "early May" layoff earlier had been announced by Lawrence Pomeroy, Badger president. Pomeroy said the layoff was required to convert from two shifts to one shift in the Kaukauna and Neenah plants.

The Kaukauna plants will have an estimated 300 employees after the move, he indicated.

Lyons indicated plans for the layoffs were unchanged from Pomeroy's earlier announcement.

Production Adjustment

Pomeroy had called the reduction in work forces an "adjustment to our production program."

He said the reduction would not affect production.

Last September company statements said the firm would cut the work force in February, possibly by 100 employees, because of insufficient capacity to manufacture pressed parts. The reduction in employees will permit a change in assembly lines.

Recreational equipment manufacture has been dropped from the Kaukauna plant to make room for painting, welding and assembling of parts for farm machinery.

Badger Northland is a subsidiary of Massey-Ferguson, Inc., Des Moines.

Neenah Man Ticketed for Leaving Scene

A rural Neenah man has been cited for leaving the scene of an accident involving a personal injury and failure to report an accident in connection with an accident early Wednesday morning that injured two women.

Appleton police said citations ordering Norman D. Peters, 25, route 2, into court were written Thursday.

Winnebago County police said Thursday that a 1959 Mercury, registered to Peters, was found abandoned in a rural Neenah wrecking yard. Appleton police said the car was damaged, and that parts of a car found at the scene of the early Wednesday accident matched.

Peters must appear in court on the two counts next Friday.

Mae L. Fird, 46, 513 Seventh St., Menasha, driver of the car that was struck, sustained a sore wrist, while her passenger Betty L. Kunstman, 40, 1227 S. Walden Ave., was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for a bump on the head.

Deaths

Dale Krueger, 20, route 1, New London.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bessert, 89, 531 W. Marquette St., Appleton.

Mrs. Johanna Stark, Family Heritage Home, Appleton.

Alvin A. Gartzke, 54, 800 London St., Menasha.

Mrs. Evelyn M. Anderson, 74, Bethany Home, Waupaca.

Leonard H. Miller, 55, route 2, Tigerton.

Mrs. Ida Brey, 85, Shawano.

Deaths Elsewhere

Leland R. Faebel, 70, Cranston, formerly of Appleton.

Co-op Sales Hit $1,207,000

Outagamie Equity Members Select Two as Directors

Sales of Outagamie Equity Co-op reached $1,207,000 during 1970, said Art C. Brikowski, general manager, this week during the annual meeting of the co-op at the Columbus Club. The sales total was a new record for the cooperative, said Brikowski.

Work of the Peace Corps in establishing cooperatives in Columbia was described by Dave Belina, of the member relations department of Midland Cooperative Inc., Minneapolis.

Belina helped organize a cooperative during two years work with the Peace Corps in South America.

Lawrence Brockman, route 2, Black Creek, was re-elected to a three-year term on the co-op board of directors. James D. Young, 1226 Manitowoc Road Menasha, was elected to replace Chester Halverson, route 1, Neenah. Young had served for 11 years on the co-op board.

S. F. Darling, president of the board of directors, presented honorary plaques to Lawrence Springstroh and Chester Riesenweber for service as co-op directors.

Winners of the 1970 4-H Club Award, Miss Linda Diermeier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Diermeier, route 2, Black Creek, and Meldon Ver Voort, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ver Voort, route 1, Kaukauna, discussed experiences at the Wisconsin Federation of Cooperatives' annual youth conference.

Warren's Budget Sent to Legislature

BY CAROLYN STEWART Post-Crescent Staff Writer
MADISON — Republican Atty. Gen. Robert Warren's Department of Justice budget turned out Friday to be more than the legislature's joint finance committee could handle on an objective, program review basis.

The committee dominated by Democrats began a review of the requests by the nominal leader of the Republican party, and Democratic Gov. Patrick Lucey's recommended reductions, but broke down into clear-cut party line votes on the matter. In effect, discussion and careful consideration of the budget were shifted to the legislature, which also is split between the two parties.

The review session began with a unanimous vote to cut a sum from the budget that was considered an overestimate of the state's share of the partially federally funded crime information and training and standards programs. An amount between $266,000 and $283,000 was chopped from the request after Rep. Dennis Contia, D-Milwaukee, pointed out that Congress has approved an increase from 60 to 75 per cent federal cost sharing in such programs, while the department's budget is based on the former formula for sharing. The Republicans on the committee agreed to the cut, on the condition that amount is earmarked in the Board of Government Operations budget so that it may be released if the federal funds do not materialize and BOGO agrees to continue funding the programs.

Agreement ended there.

Following the roll-call vote on the budget reduction, Rep. Anthony Earl, D-Wausau, rapidly moved that the Justice Department budget be approved as recommended by the governor and amended by the committee. Obviously still pending special consideration were the governor's recommendations that funding for increased staffing in enforcement, consumer protection and narcotics enforcement programs be denied.

Republicans had indicated Thursday they were anxious to restore at least a portion of the more than $775,000 in funds needed for those three programs, particularly the $678,000 Warren had requested for 25 new personnel in the narcotics division.

Sen. Nile Soik, R-Whitefish Bay, objected to the immediate vote on the whole budget, requesting the three division budgets be considered first. Holding a clear majority, Earl and the Democrats agreed, to the consideration and each program was defeated by an 8 to 3, party-line vote, with no discussion of the issues.

Sen. Henry Dorman, D-Racine, opposed special consideration of the issues in the Department of Justice budget, considering any joint finance committee action irrelevant since the political battles between the Senate Republicans, supporting the attorney general and the Assembly Democrats, supporting the governor, would be waged regardless of committee action.

The narcotics division program is of particular significance, since Lucey's recommendation that the added staff be denied reflects a view that the problem of drugs should be handled in a different manner than mass drug raids and arrests, while Warren's office takes credit for attacking the problem through law enforcement.

Warren, appearing before the committee to defend his department's requests, said that the department needed at least $65,000 for added positions in the pollution abatement effort because the governor's proposed environmental program would result in an added workload for his office. Warren has proposed his own pollution abatement program.

It is open to the public.

Shiocton Man Hurt in Accident

SHIOCTON — A rural Shiocton man was in rural condition this morning at Appleton Memorial Hospital with facial cuts sustained in an accident one-half mile north of here early today.

Outagamie County police said that Larry R. Gehring, 22, route 1, was traveling north on State 187 when his late model car left the road for 450 feet and glanced off a power pole. They said the auto was demolished.

Hilbert Students To Show Styles

Lucey Forms Task Force On Metropolitan Problems

Panel to View State's Role in Local Government

Gov. Patrick J. Lucey Thursday announced the formation of a committee to examine the problems of metropolitan areas and to suggest possible proposals which might make those areas function more smoothly.

John B. Torinus, editor of The Post-Crescent and vice president of Post Corporation, is one of 16 people from different metropolitan areas in the state named to the Citizens Study Committee on Metropolitan Problems.

The committee will investigate the fairness, adequacy, efficiency and responsiveness of the state to the people of local government in the metropolitan areas and consider existing problems and determine how future problems might best be provided for. After a year's study, the panel will recommend to Lucey possible modifications of state statutes concerning local government.

Lucey charged the committee to work toward:

—“Achievement of an economically efficient organization which will avoid wasteful duplication of services and allow for the advantages of economies of scale in metropolitan areas.

—“Maximization of citizen respect for, and involvement in, local government.

—“The rational financing of local government in such a way that the very method if collecting revenues does not create problems.

—“The planning of functions by units of governments which match the breadth of the problems.

Lucey added, “It is my hope that you will propose solutions which will allow cities to help themselves in an optimal fashion.

“At present, the financial and planning involvement of state government at the local level is increasing. This contradicts the very goal of home rule to which we all adhere.

“If localities achieve an orderly organization which permits an equitable taxing procedure, the encroachment of state in local affairs will be abated. However, if metropolitan areas do not clean house, and if the tax rolls of certain select municipalities are permitted to expand unconscionably, then state influence, and state taxing requirements, will be forced to grow.”

Other committee members are Gilbert Church, chairman, partner in the Milwaukee law firm of Foley & Lardner and chairman of Wisconsin Metropolitan Alliance; Robert Durkin, vice president of Milwaukee County Labor Council; Sidney Shindell, Department of Preventive Medicine, Medical College of Wisconsin, Milwaukee; Evelyn Petshek, ex-chairman of the Milwaukee League of Women Voters, vice chairman of the City of Milwaukee Planning Commission; William Irwin, chairman of Milwaukee Urban Observatory and ex-chairman of the Political Science Department at Case Western University in Cleveland; George Kaiser, Arthur Anderson and Co. and past secretary of the Department of Administration; Robert Starns, dean of urban concerns of the Milwaukee Technical College; Donald Sykes, head of the Community Relations Social Development Commission in Milwaukee; Arthur Salstein, vice president of Marine National Exchange Bank, Milwaukee; Arloe Paul, retired president of Allen-Bradley Co. and a member of the Milwaukee County Planning Commission; Mrs. William Cooper, ex-chairman of the Guild of Five Waukesha County League of Women Voters; Dr. Raymond Vlasin, professor at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, and ex-vice chairman of the Northeast Task Force; Matthew Holden Jr., professor of political science at the University of Wisconsin, Madison; Frank A. Wabiszewski, vice president of Maynard Steel Casting Co., Milwaukee; and Lt. Gov. Martin J. Schreiber as an ex officio member.

Fill Service Gaps

Buses Fine but Clapp Laments Loss of Trains

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Norman Clapp, Secretary of the State Department of Transportation, called Wisconsin-Michigan Coaches, Inc. plans to provide passenger service between Green Bay, Appleton and Fond du Lac terminal points and the new Amtrak railroad depot in Milwaukee “imaginative ideas.”

During a press conference called to discuss the national railroad passenger train plan, Clapp said that the proposal was most welcome. “It is refreshing someone wants to serve,” Clapp said, contrasting the bus company's plan with the railroad's effort to withdraw service.

While the Wisconsin-Michigan company's plan that has been taken to the state Public Service Commission for review, and the already approved bus service between a Columbus stop of the Chicago-Minneapolis train and nearby Madison have been offered, Clapp said the Department of Transportation has been attempting to encourage bus companies in southwest Wisconsin to offer similar service to offset the loss of the Burlington-Northern trains that have served that area.

Can't Replace Trains

Despite the plans and possibilities, the new secretary of transportation said he is convinced that bus service cannot fully replace the train service that is being withdrawn.

Clapp was no more optimistic, however, about the possibility of the Wisconsin passenger train routes being restored, either through amendments to the Amtrak system after the plans are reviewed following several months of service under the new system or through state subsidy of the operating losses of train runs.

The Department of Transportation along with a newly formed interagency study committee on mass transit and other groups are studying the possibilities of adding to the single railroad passenger route through the state, Clapp said, but, “there is nothing of immediate significance.”

Not Too Reliable

He estimated, according to what he termed uncertain and not too reliable figures, that it would cost the state about $660,000 a year to subsidize the losses if it were to make a commitment to continuing two runs a day between Green Bay and Milwaukee and Madison and Chicago. That figure, he said, is based on the assumption the losses would be about $1 million a year, and that the state would have to meet only two-thirds of the figure.

The cost might be higher, he said, because there are indications that two-thirds might not be the required subsidy. Further, he said, such service, if provided, would come only after there has been a gap in service, and it might be difficult to get passengers back after they are out of the habit of using trains.

The figures, and proposal to provide such feeder service at state expense, to supplement Amtrak, he said, is purely speculative. The whole subject, he said, requires a thorough, long-range study before any action is proposed, and probably after the final Amtrak routes are settled following review of the initial period of operation.

State Optometric Auxiliary Elects Mrs. Wilson

CLINTONVILLE — Mrs. Roger E. Wilson, 195 Walnut St., was elected recording secretary of the Auxiliary of the Wisconsin Optometric Association at the annual meeting April 24 at Fontana.

Mrs. Wilson has been a member of the organization since 1959 and worked on the committee which planned the annual convention in Green Bay in 1969. She is the wife of Dr. Wilson, a Clintonville optometrist, who was re-elected secretary of the Wisconsin Optometric association.

Mrs. Wilson is the daughter of Dr. Daniel B. Fast, who was named Wisconsin “Optometrist of the Year” at an awards luncheon April 24.

Rep. Symington Joins Others in Salute To Obey May 16

STEVENS POINT — Rep. James Symington of Missouri will join Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine and the other dignitaries in a salute to Rep. David Obey on May 16.

The announcement was made by Roy Hagengruber of Wausau and Joseph Hartz of Stevens Point, co-chairmen of the Wisconsin Salutes Dave Obey Committee.

The Obey salute will include a cocktail reception honoring Obey, Muskie and Symington at the Hoffman House (Midway Motor Lodge) in Wausau from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., dinner at the DeBot Center on the Stevens Point campus from 7:30 p.m. and a program in the Stevens Point fieldhouse from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. Muskie as the featured speaker and Symington as the master of ceremonies at 8 p.m. Tickets may be obtained by writing P.O. Box 1392, Wausau.

Thing 71

Teens to Discuss 'The Value of Life'

WAUPACA — “The Value of Life” has been chosen for the theme of Thing 71, the Waupaca area's teen-age gathering at 7:30 p.m. May 13 at the Shepherd of the Lakes Lutheran Church.

Invitations have been sent to all teen-agers in the community to take part in the program. This is the second annual gathering. Cochairman Jean Jorgensen, delegate from the Shepherd of the Lakes Lutheran Church, said, “It gives us a chance to meet all denominations, sit down and discuss problems which face us today and come up with some workable answers.”

Brother Joseph, adult coordinator at Blessed Sacrament Prep School, where Thing 70 originated last year, said, “These teen-agers are amazing in the way they seriously go about assessing their part in today's affairs, and how they believe they should go about making their generation one of hope.”

Stage Circus To be June 10

County Deputy Sheriffs Sponsor Holiday Hippodrome

The Outagamie County Deputy Sheriffs Association will sponsor Holiday Hippodrome stage circus June 10 at Xavier High School.

At least one, 90-minute evening performance will be held and more will be scheduled if warranted by ticket sales.

Holiday Hippodrome, a Florida-based show which has appeared throughout the nation, features circus performers and variety acts of interest to children.

Tickets, which are the same price for children and adults, are now being sold. The deputy sheriffs association, a non-profit organization, will use the proceeds from the show to finance to 7 p.m., dinner at the DeBot Center on the Stevens Point campus from 7:30 p.m. and a program in the Stevens Point fieldhouse from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. Muskie as the featured speaker and Symington as the master of ceremonies at 8 p.m. Tickets may be obtained by writing P.O. Box 1392, Wausau.

University Systems

UWGB Challenges Savings in Merger

Special to The Post-Crescent

GREEN BAY — In a statement released today, the university committee of the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay challenged the claim that merger of the UW and Wisconsin State University systems would effect substantial savings in the state's higher education budget.

Opposing “hasty action” on the merger proposal put forward in Gov. Patrick J. Lucey's budget message to the legislature, the six-member faculty body posed a series of questions that must be answered, in their judgment, before action is taken on the merger proposal.

Among the questions raised by the committee were the following:

—Will merger eliminate duplication of programs through the voluntary cooperation of autonomous campuses within the merged system?

—Probably not, the committee felt. Rather, “elimination of duplication can only be accomplished by a strong central administration or administrator . . . Yet some who favor merger are opposed to a strong central authority and favor greater campus autonomy.”

Competition for Funds

—Will merger eliminate competition for funds between systems?

No, the committee said, because the demand for funds does not come from a system, but from a campus.

—Will merger save money by equalizing salaries and teaching loads?

Instead of salary savings, the committee contends merger implies additional expenditures to increase the salaries of some faculty members. And if equalizing teaching loads saves money by making all faculty members spend the same amount of time teaching classes, “we will have degraded the quality of undergraduate education. Teaching loads must provide for research time, time that is used to generate the knowledge of which textbooks are made and which teachers disseminate.”

The committee also asked how it was possible that policymaking could be more efficiently managed by a single board of regents, as recommended in the merger proposal, when some of the present regents already are complaining that “one cannot really know or understand enough details to knowledgeably act on policy matters.”

Fate of Innovation

Concern also was voiced in the statement for the fate of distinctive campus missions and innovative programs, if support is equalized.

“The cost of developing an academic program in a new university, such as UWGB, is higher than that of maintaining an existing program,” the statement continued. “In addition, UWGB's mission embraces one of the most innovative academic programs in the country, and a policy of equalized cost does not seem to us to provide for attainment of that mission.

“No one can reasonably oppose saving money or increasing quality relative to Wisconsin's higher education, but it does seem reasonable to us to oppose hasty action on the proposed merger, and to favor merger only after questions such as we and others have posed are answered.”

Members of the university committee, who prepared and signed the statement, are Walter J. Herrscher, William C. Kaufman, Thomas J. McIntosh, James M. Murray, Lloyd S. Nesberg and Keith L. White, chairman.

Depot Closes at Amherst Century of Service Ends

BY ALICE LOBERG
Post-Crescent Correspondent

AMHERST — A century of railroading ended here recently when the old Soo Line depot was closed down.

The Wisconsin Central Railroad, predecessor of the Soo Line, ran its first train through here 100 years ago.

The depot was destroyed by fire in 1898 and a box car doubled for the building until a new station was built later that year. At the turn of the century, the tracks were elevated and the depot was moved across those tracks to its present location.

Frank Cramer began his career with the Soo Line in 1902 as station agent here. He retired in 1964 after serving the longest term of any Soo Line employee.

He saw the end of the steam in 1964 and the final roundup of steam engines as they passed through here from Minneapolis and Stevens Point. Then it was nothing but diesel engines and finally in 1969, the Soo Line discontinued passenger service through here.

The area is rich in railroad history. Local communities sprung up along the routes.

Nearly 100 years ago, the Green Bay and Lake Pepin Railway passed a mile north of here and Amherst Junction developed after a junction was formed by that line and the Wisconsin Central. The community originally was named Grovesburg but when the post office was established there in 1875, the name was changed to Amherst Junction. Six passenger trains made daily stops then and the Green Bay route ran four daily trains.

The station at Lake Emily developed around the gravel pit there. Years later, when

Man Drowns After Crash

Car Goes Into River Near New London; 2nd Occupant Safe

NEW LONDON — A rural New London man apparently drowned early today after his car struck a tree and went into the Wolf River about two miles west of here.

The body of Dale Krueger, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Krueger, route 1, New London, was recovered about 8 a.m., about 200 feet downriver from the spot where the car went into the water after striking a tree head-on.

A companion in the car, Dale Bellie, 20, also of New London, escaped, and was taken to New London Community Hospital, where he was reported in good condition.

The car was retrieved about an hour and a half after it went into the water but Krueger's body was not in it and dragging operation were begun at 6 a.m.

The Waupaca County Sheriff's department said the accident apparently happened about 3 a.m.

Brillion Slates Choral Event

150-Voice Choirs In Concert Tuesday At High School

BRILLION — The junior and senior high choral departments will present a spring concert at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the high school gymnasium.

Included in the program will be the 55-voice select junior high concert choir which was formed at the beginning of the second semester to provide a musical outlet for students who have an unusual vocal talent and the desire to pursue it, according to Mike Kachur, vocal music instructor.

The 96-voice concert choir will present its portion of the program in formal concert style. Included will be selections by Martes, Bach and Mozart, as well as some of the more recent compositions. The program will be geared to present a cross-cut of vocal cultures from 1750 to the present. Choir members studied the various historical styles of music in preparation for the program.

Kathy Stanele will be featured in the narration, "The Creation," from Johnson's poem, "God's Trombones." Other soloists also will perform.

Sandy Warner will be piano accompanist for the junior choir and Bill Volkmar for the concert choir. Allan Radloff will be guest cornetist.

Other future musical events here include the vocal-instrumental festival May 8 and a parade at 4 p.m. David Aster, international tenor, will present a concert May 18.

Vocal Music Concert Planned at Amherst

AMHERST — The vocal music department of Amherst High School will present a concert at 8 p.m. on Thursday in the high school gymnasium.

Entitled "A Spring Song," the concert will be divided into two parts, a formal section, with the singers wearing traditional robes and an informal section. The songs will be grouped further according to subjects. There will be five categories: Songs of Great Composers; From Old Europe, featuring the madrigal singers; On Pollution; About Love; and "with exuberance."

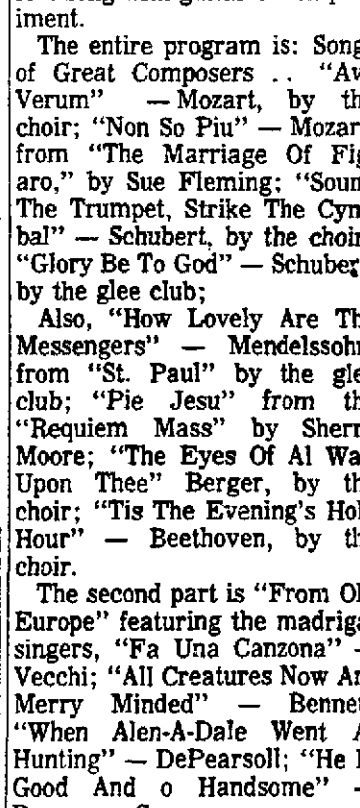

The program will close with the combined groups singing a folk song with guitar accompaniment.

The entire program is: Songs of Great Composers — "Ave Verum" — Mozart, by the choir; "Non So Più" — Mozart, from "The Marriage of Figaro," by Sue Fleming; "Sound The Trumpet, Strike The Cymbal" — Schubert, by the choir; "Glory Be To God" — Schubert, by the glee club;

Also, "How Lovely Are The Messengers" — Mendelssohn, from "St. Paul" by the glee club; "Pie Jesu" from the "Requiem Mass" by Sherry Moore; "The Eyes Of Al Wait Upon Thee" — Berger, by the choir; "Tis The Evening's Holy Hour" — Beethoven, by the choir.

The second part is "From Old Europe" featuring the madrigal singers, "Fa Una Canzona" — Vecchi; "All Creatures Now Are Merry Minded" — Bennett; "When Alen-A-Dale Went A-Hunting" — DePearsoll; "He Is Good And O Handsome" — Passereau-Greyson;

Third part — On Pollution, "Verdant Meadows" Handel, by the glee club; "Inch Worm" — Loesser, Simeone, glee club;

Policy, Finance Committee Gets County Land Control

Sale or disposal of county owned land be under the control of the policy and finance committee of the Outagamie County Board, the board's rules and legislative committee ruled Friday night.

The action, on a 4-3 vote with board chairman Russell DeLaHunt casting a tie-breaking vote, would relieve the public property and parks committee of all but custodial responsibility for county property.

A question remained whether the rules and legislative committee action would be final or if it would have to go before the entire county board for confirmation.

If upheld, the action would end a duplication in county board rules which has existed for several years in which two committees were given policy jurisdiction over the sale of county land.

When the new rules were adopted by the county board 10 days ago, the authority for setting policy for the disposal of county land was carried over to both the public property and parks committee and the policy and finance committee.

The issue came to a head when the policy and finance committee made a recommendation on an option proposal for county land to the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12 (VTE-12) after the public property and parks committee has held hearings and made a different recommendation.

Supv. Nick Karras, Appleton, chairman of the public property and parks committee, told the rules committee "I can't sit idly by and see this situation exist. We can't have the responsibility (for care of county land) without authority."

DeLaHunt contended the old executive committee had traditionally handled the sale of county land and the public property committee always had been only custodian for the courthouse. The policy and finance committee, he said, was only a carryover from the executive committee. DeLaHunt had presented the rules committee with what he termed an "edited" version of the rules which had been passed by the county board and which eliminated from the public property committee duties the references to making recommendations for sale of land.

He said that if the changes were approved by the rules committee they should not go back to the county board for confirmation since they were only correcting errors and eliminating duplication.

Rules Reviewed

DeLaHunt said he and Supv. Marvin Babbitt, Seymour, another member of the rules committee, went over the

Adult Rates Increased at Plamann Lake

Children's rates will be the same, but it will cost adults more to swim at the Plamann Park lake this summer.

The Outagamie County Board's public property and parks committee approved a new fee schedule Thursday night which increases the season passes and the daily fee for adults.

The rates for children under 13 remain the same as last year — $3 for a season pass and 25 cents daily admission. A season family pass will be $15, up from $10, and a season single adult pass will be $7.50, up from $5.

The daily admission rate for those 13 and over will be 50 cents.

Thomas Alby, lake director, reported that 14 lifeguards have been hired for the season and that on normal days of operation there will be seven guards on duty at one time. The guards will be outfitted in red swim suits and white helmets.

Supv. Eugene Kloes, who had been a member of the previous rules committee, said "We sat here a whole year doing nothing." He contended the new policy and finance committee was not intended to be an executive committee. "The committee of jurisdiction should set the policy and the policy committee carry it out," he said.

Supv. Harold Miller, Town of Grand Chute, said the sale of land belonged in the policy and finance committee not from a policy standpoint but because of the financial aspects.

Supv. G. Allen Bubolz, Appleton, argued to leave the sale policy with the public property and parks committee. "Why should the policy and finance committee have the responsibility (of selling land) when that committee doesn't work with the property on a day-to-day basis?" he asked.

Bubolz, John Schreiter and Charles Wussow voted to leave the power to recommend sale of property with the public property and parks committee while Miller, Paul Huseby and Babbitt voted to give the authority to the policy and finance committee. DeLaHunt, who can only vote on a tie, then cast the deciding vote.

On identical 4-3 votes, Wussow was elected committee chairman and Babbitt vice chairman. Miller was unanimously elected secretary.

Student Arrested For Obscene Antiwar Sign

OSHKOSH — An Oshkosh State University Student appeared in county court Friday morning on a disorderly conduct charge brought against him the day before when he was attempting to drape an anti-war slogan containing an obscene word over a speed limit sign.

An Oshkosh policeman on patrol of the campus area, said he was stopped by a student who informed him that a young man had a sign containing obscene language and he was going to put it over the speed limit sign in the middle of Algoma Boulevard on the OUS campus.

Police arrested Floyd Wouters Jr., 24, 1137 Wisconsin Ave., Oshkosh, and charged him with disorderly conduct by "indecent and profane and otherwise disorderly conduct that tended to cause and provoke a disturbance."

Wouters, released on his own recognizance, will appear in court May 14.

Lawrence Called Ideal for Indians From Sheltered Life

Schools like Lawrence University are ideally suited for Indian students coming from the sheltered life of a reservation, a Chippewa Indian employed in the federal Bureau of Indian Affairs told a Lawrence audience Thursday.

Leon F. Cook, deputy director of the BIA office of economic development, said he spoke from personal experience as a Red Lake Chippewa from Minnesota.

He reminded Lawrence students and faculty members that Amos Lawrence, a founder of the university, declared the institution has an obligation to "Germans and Indians of both sexes."

Indians have attended Lawrence in the past and graduated. Cook was the second speaker during the current "Indian Spring" series of activities at the local campus to urge greater encouragement for Indian students to attend here.

Similar Remarks

Miss Ada Deer, a leader of a Menominee reform group, made similar remarks Monday.

Cook said he attended St. John's University in Minnesota, and later did postgraduate work at the University of Minnesota.

"It is a little bit comforting to know that you don't have to go through the traumatic experience of going to a great big university," he said.

"I don't want to encourage an all-out campaign to start recruiting Indian kids," he continued. But he said Indians should be made aware of the school and of its size and atmosphere which he described as well suited to Indian students' needs.

Cook, who enjoys an image as a rebel working inside the federal Indian affairs bureaucracy, also discussed the possibility of legislation to help Wisconsin Monominee Indians, and said Indians today "are facing very, very critical issues in terms of survival."

Hope for Menominees

When the Menominee Reservation was terminated by Congress in 1961, he said, Menominees "were legislated out of business. It is our hope that they can be legislated back into business."

He explained that a bill has been prepared to grant the tribe rights that were lost by the reservation being terminated. Interviewed after his talk, Cook said he and others working to have the legislation passed hope to "at least give them the basic services the federal government provides other Indians."

While declining to speculate on the chances of the legislation passing, he said, "The probability ought to be the best now, in light of the President's message." He referred to President Nixon's declaration several months ago renouncing termination as a policy toward other tribes.

Cook is among a group of Indians hired by the BIA and placed in upper administrative positions during the past two years. He said he faced a serious personal conflict in accepting the position.

From his youth, he said, he hated the bureau. Yet the bureau offered him a chance to correct the faults he had criticized in the BIA and other Indian-oriented offices, he said. "When you opt out," he explained, "you're really coping out."

Republican Authors Drive on to Transfer VTE Cost to State

CHILSEN is the chairman of the Republican caucus of the state senate which retains numerical control of the upper house of the legislature.

Vocational school districts. The tax limit is two mills on equalized valuation. In practice, the average rate is about 1.6 mills on that base, which represents, however, a higher maximum liability than was authorized until a few years ago when the limit was fixed to assessed valuation.

Gov. Patrick J. Lucey earlier this year in his "austerity" budget acknowledged the local taxing pressures of the enlarged and improved schools when he asked the legislature to boost state support for the district training programs to about 60 per cent of operating costs, at a substantial increase in state costs.

But it is estimated that complete state liability for the operating costs of the schools would add at least $50 million a year to the state's budget, a sum that will be difficult to authorize in a time that legislators are worried about hostile reactions to impending state tax boosts.

That increase would include the current debt service obligations of the districts.

The new state senate bill would make the state responsible for future debt contracted by the schools, a sum that is likely to become formidable as the district service planning is put into effect. Until recently the schools were operated by cities, and taxpayers were liable and students eligible only on the basis of their residence within a school district.

Dan Zernicke and Sherry Bramschreiber will reign over the junior prom tonight at Bonduel High School. Theme of this year's event is "Hawaiian Paradise."
